RUN FEW CARS IN LONDON

Railroad's Attempt to Operate on Skeleton Schedules Today

Irish Roads Still Run—Fear Strike Will Spread to Miners and Others.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Railroads running out of London attempted today to operate trains on skeleton schedules. Hitherto the strike has caused almost total suspension of traffic on English roads.

Ninety Percent Idle in Scotland

Ninety percent of the railway workers in Scotland are idle, but a few trains were run there on Sunday for passengers and perishable goods. Reports state these trains were operated by union men who were desirous of getting to their homes, and that there men have nearly all joined those who obeyed the first call from the National Union of Railwaymen. Irish roads are not as yet involved in the strike, but the men there have been instructed by union headquarters to hold themselves in readiness to walk out at any moment.

Fear Strike Will Spread

Concern is felt over the possibility of the strike spreading to the miners and transport workers unions, which are affiliated with the National Union of Railwaymen. James Henry Thomas, leader of the railroad workers, said:

FRESHMAN INJURED IN HAZING STUNT

A young man named Sullivan, a member of the freshmen class of the Lowell Textile school, had a narrow escape from serious injury this forenoon, when he was thrown from an automobile in Merrimack street opposite the Green school. This happened while the initiation of the class was being conducted in the street. It seems that Sullivan was chasing an automobile filled with sophomores, and was being pursued by two other sophomores armed with heavy clubs. When a spot opposite the school was reached Sullivan caught the machine and just as he was jumping on its running board, the chauffeur, so it is claimed, put on more "juice" with the result that Sullivan was thrown forcibly to the pavement. Fortunately the car did not run over him. The young man was taken into the school yard and a few minutes later he was able to again fall in line and go through the stunts prescribed by the sophomores.

HEAR DEMANDS OF HUB LONGSHOREMEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Demands of the longshoremen of Boston for an additional 10 cents an hour, while working in the refrigerators of ships and the maintenance of a standard temperature in the cold storage compartments, were presented today at the third session here of the national adjustment commission.

John D. Bell of Boston, representing the Longshoremen's union, asserted that it was necessary to maintain a standard temperature in the refrigerators in order to protect the workers' health.

The Boston longshoremen were justified, he said, in demanding 10 cents an hour additional for handling hides because of the danger to disease in which they were exposed while so employed.

Charles Stewart, speaking for owners of vessels, asserted that it cost several thousand dollars more to load and unload ships in Boston than it did in New York. He referred to the agreement between longshoremen and their employers in Boston as "a confounded nuisance."

100 Deputies Participated in Battle—Cabinet May Resign

ROME, Sunday, Sept. 28.—Debate in the chamber of deputies, was interrupted today by a free fight which lasted 10 minutes and in which about 100 deputies participated. The opinion is expressed in some quarters that the cabinet as a result of the riotous incident, may decide to resign rather than plunge the country into a struggle during the general election. It is asserted the fight in the chamber indicates what would occur in the country.

SUGAR SHORTAGE HERE

Mayor and City Sealer Will Consult Commission at State House Tomorrow

Municipal machinery to relieve the sugar shortage in this city and to ascertain why certain dealers are able to get a far greater proportion of the meagre supply than is coming here than are others was put in motion this morning when Mayor Perry D. Thompson and Warren P. Riordan, sealer of weights and measures, held a conference in the former's office and decided to bring the matter personally before the state commission of the necessities of life at the state house in Boston tomorrow morning.

For several months past Lowell people have suffered in varying degrees from the lack of sugar in the city. Evidence has been forthcoming that Boston and other cities near Lowell have been able to get a fairly normal supply while this city has had to resort to brown sugar and other stringent measures of war days. Why this should be the case and what can be done to remedy existing conditions will be problems laid before the state commission tomorrow.

Mr. Riordan says that he has abundant evidence to show that certain local dealers are getting more than their share of sugar. All that he wants is authority to investigate the cases further so that the real reason for the inequitable distribution may be forthcoming.

He cites the case of a Boston man who brought a carload of sugar into Lowell on the 12th of the present month and sold it at retail from the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad. This practice is in violation of the regulations of the road, now a federal organization, and Mr. Riordan called the attention of the local agent to the fact. The latter admitted that the sale had taken place before the railroad officials could prevent it, but that it was a pure violation.

Mr. Riordan immediately wrote to John H. Sherburne, chairman of the commission of the necessities of life, and laid the facts of the case before him. The latter replied that the dealer in question had no right whatever to do what he did, especially in view of the present shortage of sugar. He promised that the case would be investigated.

In order to take this and other matters up personally with the commission as well as to see if more sugar can be diverted to this city, the mayor and Mr. Riordan decided to appear before the commission and as a result of their appearance something definite in the way of relief may be produced.

NEGRO LYNCHED NIGHT OF TERROR

Federal Troops Control Omaha, After Night of Mob Rule—Courthouse Burned

Attempt to Hang Mayor—One Man Killed, 40 Others Injured—Mob Fired Jail

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Major General Leonard Wood, commanding the central department, with headquarters at Chicago, has been directed by Secretary Baker to proceed to Omaha where federal troops were sent last night to quell a race riot.

Night of Mob Rule

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 29.—After a night of mob rule during which a negro was lynched, an attempt made to hang the mayor of Omaha, Edward P. Smith, the county courthouse burned, one man shot and killed, and perhaps 40 others injured, the city was quiet today, under patrol of federal troops from Fort Crook and Fort Omaha.

Mayor Still in Hospital

The mayor is still in a hospital as a result of the attempt made by the mob to hang him in a trolley pole because he advised against the lynching of William Brown, a negro who was in the county jail, charged with attacking a white girl on the outskirts of the city early last week. He recovered consciousness this morning but was still in a critical condition.

CORP. TROTTECHAUD WELCOMED HOME

Corp. Frank H. Trottechaud, 47th Motor Supply Train, who returned last week from Germany, after serving nine months with the army of occupation, and who spent over a year in Europe with the A.E.F. was given a welcome home reception last evening at the home of his sister, Mrs. Frank Lambert, 121 Orleans street.

The young man, who is enjoying the best of health, was released from the service at Camp Devens last Wednesday. Present at the reception last evening were about 75 friends of the young soldier, who took occasion to congratulate him on his good fortune for not having been wounded or gassed while at the front and also to extend to him their best wishes.

In the course of the evening a varied musical program was given under the direction of Mr. Frank Lambert and a buffet luncheon was served.

LOST FOOD CAR ARRIVES IN LOWELL

The carload of government food assigned to this city for sale to the general public, which has been lost in transit between here and Boston for the past week or so, arrived this morning and will be unpacked at the Red Cross rooms at once. The car contains a total of 30,000 pounds of foodstuffs including corned beef, canned corn, stringless beans and tomatoes. The food will go on sale either Wednesday or Thursday of this week, but detailed arrangements have not yet been made by the Red Cross officials.

BRITISH CREW ARRIVES

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Sent here from England by the White Star Line to take over and operate the former German liner Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm, a crew of 25 British officers and men arrived today on the steamship Baltic. The Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm was one of the eight German ships originally allotted to Great Britain by the inter-allied naval commission and sent to the United States as a transport.

Last Saturday it was announced, however, from Washington that the ships would be retained by the United States Shipping board, this announcement coming but a short time prior to the hour when it was expected that the Imperator would be turned over to the Canadian Line.

Sailings to British Ports Cancelled

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—All sailings to ports in Great Britain have been cancelled by the shipping board because of the strike of railway workers there. The following instructions have been sent by the division of operations to operations officers at all ports:

"To avoid congestion and bunkering difficulties as a result of the British railway strike and in line with action likely to be taken by their owners, all sailings of shipping board vessels for United Kingdom suspended and vessels ordered held in port. Discontinue at once further bookings, loadings and clearances for United Kingdom ports."

TRAVELING BAG FOR PRINCIPAL BIXBY

Members of the high school faculty emphasized their expressions of regret over the resignation of Head Master Herbert D. Bixby today, when at the close of the school session this noon they gathered in the assembly hall and presented him a splendid traveling bag. The actual presentation was made by Frederick N. Woodward, sub-master, who while offering the gift took the opportunity to again express the sentiment of the teachers, who, he said, experience a feeling of personal loss in Mr. Bixby's departure.

In acknowledgment, Mr. Bixby reiterated his statements made to the pupils on Friday to the effect that his associations at the local school always have been pleasant and have been crystallized into lasting memories. With a smile to the possibilities of his new position in Cleveland, he said he was conscious of an ever-increasing regret at leaving Lowell as the time grew nearer. Luncheon was served during an informal social hour which followed.

Mr. Bixby completes his work at the school tomorrow noon but will not leave the city for Cleveland until the first of next week. If the school committee in regular meeting tomorrow evening does not elect his successor, Mr. Woodward, sub-master, will serve during the interim.

When questioned this morning regarding tomorrow night's meeting, Chairman Richard Braabrook Walsh said he did not know whether or not a new headmaster would be chosen, but in case no vote transpired, Mr. Woodward would temporarily serve as headmaster. The position of principal of the Green grammar school, an office made vacant through the resignation of Paul Perkins, also may be filled tomorrow evening.

PRESIDENT HAD RESTLESS NIGHT

Will Remain in Seclusion at White House for Present, Says Tumulty

Will Not Receive Viscount Grey or King Albert Until Later

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—President Wilson spent a restless night, but slept this morning, Rear Admiral Grayson announced today.

Dr. Grayson's new bulletin said: "The president passed a restless night, but is sleeping this morning."

Secretary Tumulty said the president would remain in seclusion at the White House for the present.

The industrial conference called for Oct. 6 will be held despite the president's illness, but whether he will attend will depend on the progress he makes toward recovery. His condition now, Secretary Tumulty said, would not justify his attendance.

The president will not be able to receive immediately Viscount Grey, the British ambassador, who arrived here Saturday, but when his health permits him to see visitors, Viscount Grey probably will be among the first to be received.

The president arose shortly after 11 o'clock, but remained in his room. He was said to be apparently somewhat refreshed after his sleep.

President Wilson will not receive King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium at the White House until they return from a tour of the United States. This was learned today at the White House.

Back at the White House after an absence of 23 days, President Wilson today was beginning the period of absolute rest prescribed by his physician as necessary for his recovery from the nervous exhaustion which cut short his speaking trip for the peace treaty.

GAINS CLAIMED BY BOTH SIDES

Opposing Leaders in Steel Strike Issue Flatly Contradictory Statements

Bethlehem Officials Say Few of 40,000 Obey Strike Call—Union Men Disagree

(By Associated Press.) Today, proclaimed by both sides as one of crucial test in the great steel strike, opened with the situation still obscure because of conflicting claims.

The opposing leaders issued flatly contradictory statements in regard to the scheduled strike of the 40,000 workers in the plants of the Bethlehem Steel corporation. The corporation officials claimed that the strike call had been obeyed only by a comparatively insignificant number and that operations in all their mills were continuing. The union chiefs replied with a claim that the huge plant at Bethlehem was completely crippled and that the power house had been forced to close.

There will be registration for the classes in these schools on the evenings of Tuesday, Sept. 30 and Thursday, October 2, from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Americanization Classes

Classes in Americanization will be formulated a little later and will be conducted along lines previously followed. They will be held in school buildings adjacent to districts populated by foreign speaking peoples and will be open to all as far as the accommodations extend.

In regard to the evening schools of all grades, the school authorities direct attention to the following provisions of the Acts of 1903:

Chapter 514, Section 48.—While a public evening school is maintained in the city or town in which any minor resides who is over 16 years of age and who does not have a certificate signed by the superintendent of schools, or by the school committee, or by some person acting under authority thereof, certifying to his ability to read at sight and write legibly simple sentences in the English language, no person shall employ him and no parent, guardian or custodian shall permit him to be employed unless he is a regular attendant at such evening school or day school.

Whoever employs a minor in violation of the provisions of this section shall forfeit not more than $100 for each offense (the word "minor" referred to now means a person under 21 years of age).

BUILDINGS GONE FROM AUDITORIUM SITE

With the exception of Dana's garage at East Merrimack and Stackpole streets, there is not a building standing today on the site of the proposed memorial auditorium surrounded by E. Merrimack, Stackpole and Brown sts. The last building to come down was that opposite the garage and this morning employees of Stearns Bros. of Chelsea, who bought the buildings at public auction, began tearing down the last remaining vestige of the group of lodging houses that for years were a familiar sight to residents of Belvidere and the Oaklands.

The site today is a mass of ruins above which chimneys rear their naked heights. One is able to gain a better idea of just how great a piece of land the proposed building is to occupy now that the old buildings have been razed.

The next step in the work will be the cutting down of the trees still standing in Brown and Stackpole sts and the general clearing of the land. On Oct. 15 the auditorium commission will open bids for the erection of the building.

TELEPHONE GIRL'S WORK APPRECIATED

Appreciation of her splendid service to her country as a telephone operator with the A.R.P., is contained in a letter from the secretary general of the American Commission to Negotiate Peace, received by Miss Leonine Lamoureux of this city, who is still on duty in France. The letter follows:

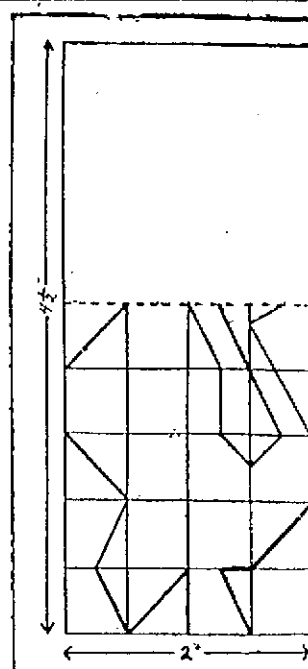

My Dear Miss Lamoureux: The American Commission to Negotiate Peace—Hon. Robert Lansing, Hon. Henry White, Col. Edward M. House and Gen. Parker H. Biss, have directed me to convey to you their warm appreciation of the manner in which you performed your duties while connected with the commission. Your loyal service has been of genuine service to your country and the commissioners are glad to take the opportunity of saying so to you.

As secretary general of the commission, I beg to add to that of the commissioners, my own appreciation of your services. Faithfully yours, SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE AMERICAN COMMISSION TO NEGOTIATE PEACE.

Miss Lamoureux is the daughter of Patrolman and Mrs. Joseph L. Lamoureux, and left Lowell in March, 1918, the first local girl to go with the signal corps as a telephone operator. As she is still in France, while her companions have returned, she will be the last to reach home.

Deputies in Fight

Premier Nitti in the chamber today. Ten members refrained from casting their ballots.

The correct figures for the vote are 205 to 148, instead of 205 to 140 as at first reported.

The chamber adjourned tonight, until Wednesday, when it will decide whether a vote shall be taken on the question of discussing the peace treaties.

Several Duels Announced

In consequence of the fight in the chamber several duels were announced between deputies and between deputies and journalists.

A prolonged heated discussion preceded the riotous scene. The members of the parliamentary league insisted upon asking the government whether it intended to discuss the treaties before adjournment. Premier Nitti answered that he would first have a vote of confidence, and then whatever cabinet should be in power would decide what should be done. Thereupon members of the parliamentary league invaded the ministers' bench, shouting and gesticulating.

A party of socialists thereupon rushed from their seats and faced their adversaries, the group soon engaging in fistfights.

Premier Nitti, who had left the government benches, returned to his place when the disturbance had somewhat subsided. He was greeted with applause.

Great Excitement

The adjournment taken after the vote of confidence was amid great excitement, many deputies expressing doubt as they dispersed, as to whether the government really intended bringing the matter of the discussion of the treaties upon Wednesday. The belief seemed rather to be that the chamber would be dissolved for general elections.

The vicinity of the chamber was occupied by police, carabinieri and troops and groups that gathered to attempt demonstrations for or against the government were dispersed.

The debate was opened by Deputy Turati, leader of the official socialists. "What is happening today in the outgrowth of the war," he declared, "war arouses all appetites and the more you attempt to gratify them the less you succeed in satisfying them."

He attacked those who, he said, for three years had ignored the fact that Fiume was Italian and had sanctioned its going to the Croats. He believed, however, that Fiume would be better placed as the capital of an autonomous state than otherwise.

Italy had "called America to her rescue."

Condemning the d'Annunzio raid upon Fiume, he continued: "After making war upon Germany and Austria, we are now preparing for war against Jugo-Slavia, but which of the American banks will supply us with the funds?"

He argued that it would be only the power of the proletariat that could save Italy from either militarism or Bolshevism.

"We socialists, even the mildest among us," he continued, "if put to a choice between militarism and Bolshevism will not hesitate to choose the latter."

"The solution of the present difficulties cannot be found in the parliament, but in the people, who must decide and pass sentence on what is done and express their views on what they wish done. Likewise, the peace treaty must be discussed by the people. All this can be accomplished through general elections."

Count Soderini, a Catholic deputy, supported the plan of proclaiming Fiume Italian. At the same time he condemned what he characterized as "dangerous adventures" and urged the necessity of re-establishing army discipline.

5000 People Attend Formal Opening of Lowell's Public Bath House

The Merrimack river came into its own as a pleasure resort yesterday afternoon when 5000 people lined its banks to take part in the formal opening of the new municipal bath house at the swimming pool off Varnum avenue. Ideal weather marked the opening day and an excellently arranged program of exercises and swimming races gave genuine pleasure to the large Sunday afternoon crowd in attendance.

The U. S. Cartridge Co. band, William Regan, director, furnished a concert during the afternoon and the Honey Boy quartet assisted in keeping the crowd entertained. The concert began at 2 o'clock and continued until 4 when Mayor Jerry D. Thompson made a brief speech of congratulation and turned the building over to the public. The mayor also presented prizes to the winners of the various swimming events.

One feature which detracted a little from the otherwise complete success of the occasion was the poor car service furnished by the street railway company. Extra cars were unusually conspicuous by their absence and the small closed cars which were run on regular schedule proved all too congested for the hundreds who wanted to take part in the opening.

The first number was the general inspection of the new building by the visitors. Doors were thrown open in both the men and women's departments and John W. Kernan, superintendent of the park department, and Michael P. Ryane, swimming instructor at the pool, were on hand to escort the visitors about the building and explain the various features which have been dealt with in these columns previously. Everybody expressed him or herself well pleased with the conveniences of the bath house which will take care of 200 bathers at a time and congratulations for the park commission were in order.

Shortly after 2:30 Instructor Ryane and Commodore James H. Walker went to the raft stationed about 50 yards off shore and announced the first event, the 50-yard swim for boys under 15 years of age. There were six entrants in this race and the course was from the raft to the shore. Commodore Walker was the starter and after a spirited tussle in the water Andrew Malloy was the first to reach shore and win the first prize. Second honors went to George Lamas, who was close behind.

The second event was a swim of the same distance and over the same course for boys less than 12 years old. Paul Farrell was the first to gain the objective in this event and Charles LeBrun was second. Frank Barrett also proved a fast swimmer but when he had reached the half-way mark his path was blocked by one "Doc" who howled and backed when the boys struck the water and unable to resist the temptation to take part in the contest himself, plunged into the water and help up young Barrett. In view of the circumstances the judges thought that Barrett should be given a prize for his efforts and the park commissioners agreed that he should be given third money.

Event No. 3 was a demonstration of swimming with hands and feet tied by Inspector Ryane. Mr. Ryane swam from the raft to shore by twisting and twirling his body about in the manner of a hoodlum and got a big hand when he finally made shore.

In the next event the embryo Annette Kellermanns of the city shone. Although there were but two contestants the plunge was a spirited one. Englandue Morin was adjudged first prize winner and Miss Robitaille came in a close second.

The big event of the afternoon was the 200-yard swim for the championship of the city open to all residents of Lowell. The course was from the North Chelmsford side of the river to the shore immediately in front of the bath house.

There were five entrants and Walter Bourque, a comparatively young waterman, came in only a foot ahead of Ernest Turcotte. The final events were a demonstration of various swimming strokes by Mr. Ryane and a life-saving and artificial respiration exhibition by Mr. Ryane and Mr. Bourque.

The crowd then adjourned to the space in front of the bath house to listen to Mayor Thompson. The mayor spoke of the auspicious circumstances surrounding the opening of the new building and said he hoped this might be an augur of continued success in the efforts of the municipal authorities to provide suitable recreational opportunities for the young and old of the city.

Plans were under way, he said, to improve the land surrounding the bath house so that it might form a sort of a park where the mothers of Lowell might bring their children during warm summer weather and enjoy the beauties of the riverbank.

In closing he congratulated the members of the park commission on the rapidity with which the bath house was completed. He also thanked his associates in the municipal council for voting for the necessary money to erect the building. To Instructor Ryane he paid a very glowing tribute for his valuable services during the last two years as the friend of every man, woman and child who visited the pool.

Suitable prizes, donated by local merchants at the solicitation of the board of trade, were then awarded the winners of the various races by the mayor and with a concluding selection by the band, the afternoon's program was over.

The officials of the afternoon were Commodore James H. Walker, Timothy P. O'Sullivan, George "Lerty" Tyler of the Chicago Cubs' baseball team, Harry C. Briggs, John A. Hunnewell, Miss Katherine Cronin, Miss Lena Doyle and Miss Madeline Greier. Through the courtesy of the Lowell Boat club a launch was available for the officials.

DAUGHTERS OF ST. GEORGE

The 23d annual convention of the Independent Order of Daughters of St. George will open in this city this evening with an address in Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street by Rev. N. W. Matthews, pastor of the Gorham Street P. M. church. The business session will open tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the same hall and it is expected considerable business will be transacted. On Wednesday evening the delegates, who will come from various parts of New England will be entertained by the Sons of St. George, who will provide luncheon and an entertainment. Thursday evening the visitors will attend the regular performance at the H. P. Keith theatre. The arrangements for the convention are in the hands of the members of Princess lodge, 12 of this city.

SECOND ALARM

MEANT "ALL OUT"

An alarm from box 21 yesterday afternoon summoned a portion of the department to the railroad tracks in the vicinity of the Hale street bridge, for a blaze in a carload of baled cotton. The firemen responded quickly and shortly after their arrival they had the fire under control. Chief Saunders gave orders for the sounding of the all-out signal, but his order was misunderstood. James S. Dwyer, director of the department, received calls from fully 100 ex-service men each month.

HELPING EX-SERVICE MEN

Many Lowell men, who came back from the war disabled and unable to tackle the jobs on which they were working prior to entering the service are studying new trades at various vocational schools, in and out of the city and receiving pay from Uncle Sam while learning, as a result of the activities of the home service department of the local Red Cross chapter, which was organized to assist former service men, particularly those disabled, but his order was misunderstood. James S. Dwyer, director of the department, received calls from fully 100 ex-service men each month.

FOR RAILWAY SHOPMEN

National Agreement Proposed
by Wilson Will Become
Effective Oct. 20

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The national agreement on working conditions for railway shopmen establishing uniform rules for 600,000 men as proposed in President Wilson's reply to the demand of the men for increased wages will become effective Oct. 20 and remain in force until the end of government control of the roads. It was learned today that the agreement had been signed by the railroad administration and six international unions affiliated with the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor.

WOULD END FEDERAL SUGAR CONTROL

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—President Wilson has been advised by the United States sugar equalization board, it was learned today that in its opinion it is too late to consider a continuance of government sugar control throughout next year. The board automatically goes out of office on December 31.

Already one million tons or one-quarter of the new crop of Cuban sugar has been sold. It is said, mainly to foreign buyers, at a price averaging 6½ cents a pound. Last year the board purchased the entire Cuban crop of more than 3,500,000 tons at 5½ cents.

American refiners, in view of the foreign demand and heavy domestic requirements, the equalization board stated, are now at liberty to enter the market for the new Cuban crop, the unold portion of which exceeds 2,950,000 tons.

TABLET UNVEILED AT WESTLAWN

A memorial tablet was unveiled in honor of Edward Rowe, one of the members of the Lowell Salvation Army who made the supreme sacrifice for democracy, at the Westlawn cemetery yesterday afternoon. The services were under the auspices of Clan Grant, of which the young man was a member, and music was furnished by the "Sal-lie" band.

At the morning services of the Salvation Army yesterday Adj. Klipsig took for his topic: "Sanctification and Service." The afternoon topic was: "He Hears—He Sees," and at the evening service he spoke on the theme: "Seeking and Finding Jesus." A large attendance was present at all services.

Run Few Cars

Continued

Yesterday he would ask the assistance of the triple alliance only in case he could not fight the railroad question alone. Robert Smilie, leader of the miners' union, speaking at Glasgow last night, said that, because of the fact that the mines and railroads were closely related, 90 percent of the coal diggers of the country would be idle in a few days.

people to economize as much as possible in petrol, fuel and food.

Miss Eleanor Hopwood has been placed in charge of food distribution in this city. She has long been assistant commissioner in the ministry of food, and was previously secretary to a big commercial firm. She takes an optimistic view. The public need not worry, in her view, as she is confident that the strikers will be defeated. She said the government's appeal for volunteers to operate the railways and other essential services of the country is meeting with a big response.

100,000 Miners Idle

One hundred thousand miners are idle in the South Wales coal fields as a result of the railroad strike. Many collieries are closing down and the Swansea harbor trade is paralyzed.

Announce Improvement

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Improvement in the situation created by the general strike on the British railways was announced today in the following statement from Downing street:

"The general strike situation is improving. The government measures are working satisfactorily. Food distribution is proceeding smoothly and offers of voluntary assistance are still pouring in."

Thousands Forced Out of Work

There were no indications today that the strike would immediately spread to the miners and transport workers. The labor leaders said they were unwilling to call out the miners or transport workers unless there was urgent need of their assistance. The stoppage of transportation, however, is automatically throwing thousands of miners out of work.

While nearly every railroad in the United Kingdom made some effort to run trains, the railway tieup approached completeness as nearly as the most ardent union man could hope. Meanwhile the government, by inaugurating a system of motor lorry transportation, planned in detail during the war in case of a German invasion, supplied the cities with milk and expected to keep a large stream of food pouring into the great centres. One motor lorry column a mile long brought food into London from the west.

London busses and trams were operating but with the subway shut-down their facilities were inadequate to accommodate the crowds.

London business houses were again under manned today through the inability of the workers to reach the city.

Sept. 29 - Oct. 6

BLANKET WEEK starts today in our Blanket department, and will continue until October 6th. This year manufacturer, jobber and retailer have united to make National Blanket Week an exceptional opportunity for the housekeeper to obtain unusual values in blankets of all grades. Blankets are scarce and prices are advancing. Therefore this week will be an opportune time for householders to get a good supply of fine fleecy blankets at special low prices. With Good Blankets for as little as $3.98. Others—well, read the following items:

HOW BLANKETS ORIGINATED—It was in the cold winter of 1340 that the blanket was first introduced. Its inventor, Thomas Blanket, was a Flemish merchant, who had settled in Bristol and had fallen from affluence to want. He and his wife, suffering from the intense cold by reason of scanty bedding and lack of fuel, searched for something to put on the bed to increase the warmth. They hit upon a piece of rough unfinished cloth. That had suggested the manufacture of special bed covers of the same material and these articles to which he gave his own name, won him wealth.

Utmost Value in Heating $114
World's Greatest Invention

New IDEAL-Arcola Radiator-Boiler

Puts IDEAL HOT WATER HEATING comfort at low cost in cottages, flats, or stores, with or without cellars.

The IDEAL-Arcola takes the place of a parlor stove. But a stove wastes much of its heat up the chimney, whereas the IDEAL-Arcola is water-jacketed, and conveys its heat by hot water circulation through pipe-connected AMERICAN Radiators stationed in the adjoining rooms. Every bit of the big volume of heat developed from each pound of fuel is therefore made useful in keeping ALL the rooms uniformly, healthfully warm. There is no coal-waste. The IDEAL-Arcola does not rust out or wear out—will outlast the building—is a genuine, permanent investment!

Shipped complete ready for immediate operation

The beauty of the IDEAL-Arcola method is that no cellar is needed. Everything is on one floor. The Arcola is placed in any room that has a chimney connection. No running to cellar. If there are two or more tenants in the building, each can have his own Arcola and make the temperature to suit his own needs—can make his own climate! If you do not wish at first to heat the entire building, buy a small size IDEAL-Arcola and later on buy extra sections for the IDEAL-Arcola and two or three more radiators to warm more rooms.

Cleanly heating—healthful heating—free from fire risk!

Unlike stoves, there are no coal-gas leaks into the living-rooms. The IDEAL-Arcola delivers the soft, radiant warmth of hot water—not the dry, burnt-out atmosphere of stove heating. There is no fire-risk to building—no danger to children—fire lasts for hours! The Arcola burns hard or soft coal, coke, gas, or wood. Brings cost of heating down to the lowest notch—and gives IDEAL comfort.

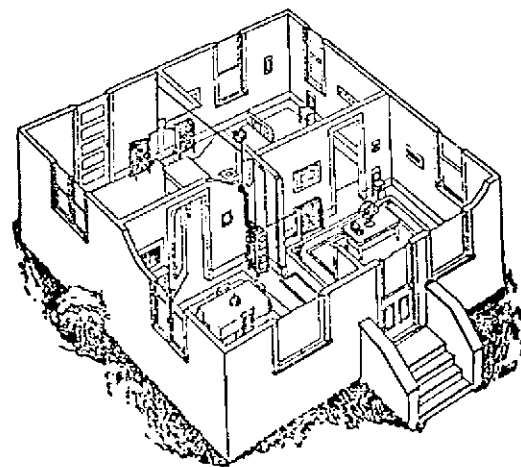

Catalog showing open views of houses, individual flats, stores, offices, etc., with the IDEAL-Arcola Radiator in position will be mailed (free). Write today.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

Thomas was thirsty!
In fact, although he had already put away several short ones and tall ones earlier in the day, he was feeling as dry as the proverbial fish when he dropped into a Summer street thimble parlor Saturday evening, crooked an elbow on the bar and asked for some of their best 275 percent.
The barkeep, convinced that Thomas was carrying a sufficient load even for a Saturday night, politely but firmly refused, whereupon Thomas grew argumentative and finally found himself outside.
Which made Thomas—whose other name happens to be Lindsey—rather peeved. He got so cross, did Thomas, that he tossed a rock up against the window, and soon afterwards a policeman rode to police headquarters with him.
Thomas told Judge Bright in police court this morning that he was sorry about the window breaking affair, he also intimated that if given an opportunity he would pay for the damage.
So they continued his case a week, the court withholding sentence, to see if he can patch up his differences with the proprietor, which were estimated at a trifle over $10.

Present at time
Ten men, arraigned for being present at a game on the Lord's day, pleaded guilty and paid fines of $2 each. The names given were: Louis Katakas, Charles Katakas, George Katakas, Thomas Katakas, William Katakas, Thomas Quinn, Louis Balokos, Nicholas Sakelakos, Geo. Lokas, Louis Katakas, Geo. Makorinos and Geo. Stronopoulos. The men were arrested in an Adams street house late yesterday by Officers Moore, Conroy, O'Neil and O'Sullivan.

Charged With Larceny
Charged with stealing a shirt, towels, cloth, etc., from the home of her employer, Mrs. Mary Wiggins, last June, May Anthony, alias, pleaded guilty and had her case continued one week for disposition. As it is charged against her, that of stealing a quantity of table linen from another woman by whom she was employed during the summer, was a second case of evidence.

ABOUT THE BOXERS

"Baby" Christie, of this city, who is back in the "ring" after having been in the navy is looking for a fight, and would like nothing better than a match with Buddy Thomas. "Baby" has put on considerable weight. Last according to those who have seen him in action he has lost none of his speed or aggressiveness. He is training regularly and is ready to go at any time. The weight of his victory over the late Joe Shepherd, for a loss of touch, and the hope by beating Joe, that he can enter the ring at a later date. Christie entered the ring a 19 to 1

Favorite, but after the second round the odds shifted. Sheppard packed a heavy punch and in the clinches proved altogether too much for the New Haven boy. He carried the fight all the way and had a lead in eight of the ten rounds.

Johnny Veto stopped Buddy Thomas, of Lowell in three rounds at the Commercial club, Boston, last Friday night.

Fans would like to see Battling Sylvis and Buddy Duffy at it again. Their next bout here the other night was one of these kind you read about, and a return engagement would make a big hit with the boys who like action.

Kid Thomas and Young Leonard would also be a good pair to play a return engagement. Both are satisfied.

LOWELL TEXTILE SCHOOL OPENS

The Lowell Textile school, the most prominent of its kind in the country, commenced its 22nd year today with the largest entering class in its history. The freshmen number more than 125, while the upper classes make the whole enrollment in excess of 500.

The regular courses of cotton and woolen instruction, theoretical and practical, have not been added to this year and practically the same schedule will be followed in the allied studies.

The most significant fact in connection with the opening of the school is the size of the entering class. If its increased size over those of other recent years reflects what is to occur in subsequent years, then it may devolve upon the school trustees to appeal to the state legislature in an effort to provide dormitory accommodations. It has been exceedingly difficult for the school authorities to provide rooms in private homes for the new men, although the response to an eleven-hour request for additional housing accommodations has just about met the requirements.

With the excellent facilities of the school, situated in one of the largest cotton manufacturing communities in the United States, it is only to be expected that its growth will be rapid and if added registration occurs every future year, the school will be obliged to expand.

Night of Terror

negro lover," the mob yelled. "Get that rope," someone shouted. It was pulled down by a loose end but was not long enough to reach. A man climbed the pole and with a knife cut the rope. It was brought down and placed around the neck of the mayor. "Throw it up over the pole and string the mayor and yell a dozen voices. The mayor was the centre of a crush so great that it almost overthrew an automobile standing near. The rope was placed around his neck. Appalled at the possibility of murdering the city's chief executive, some of the mob protested. "We won't stand for hanging the mayor; that won't set us the negro; let him go; let him get out of here!"

Rush Smith to Hospital

Then two officers cut the rope, carried the mayor to an automobile and rushed him to a hospital.

The mayor's law firm is at present defending two negroes charged with assaults on white women. The police assert that fact had much to do with some of the remarks made by members of the mob who led a band in the attempt against his life.

Courthouse in Ruins

The fire that was started in the courthouse left that structure a mass of ruins. The property was valued at a million and a half dollars. The damage to the records could not be estimated today, but it is believed many have been destroyed beyond reconstruction. Vital statistics accumulated since the county was organized are believed to be badly damaged.

For several hours the lives of more than 100 prisoners in the county jail were endangered by the flames in the lower floors of the building. It was finally necessary to send them all to the roof. Sheriff Clark stood off the angry mob until the flames caused the prisoners themselves to take action. They at first decided among themselves to throw the negro from the roof to the pavement below and leave him to the destruction of the mob. It was at this moment that the mob that had raised entrance to the burning building pushed past Sheriff Clark and his deputies and forced their way into the cell corridor. Here it was that the negro was turned over to them.

Negro Dragged Through Flames

Throwing a rope around his neck, these men, numbering about 50, dragged him through blinding smoke to the street. When they appeared at the Harvey street entrance to the courthouse they were greeted by a howling mob of thousands.

Brown was almost dead before his form was strung to the light pole. Two bullets were fired into his body as he was dragged through the crowd. He did not utter a word during the preparations and was given no opportunity to speak before being stretched full length before the gaze of thousands.

Body Mutilated With Bullets

The body was mutilated beyond recognition. Mutilated by a thousand bullets, it was first placed over a fire of tarred rags. It was not permitted to remain there long, however, and was soon being dragged through the streets at the end of a rope pulled by 50 members of the mob. This spectacle did not end until late in the morning hours, when what remained of the torso was hung to a trolley pole at one of the most important downtown intersections. The arrival of the federal troops caused the mob to disperse.

Policemen Quit Job

The destruction of the courthouse came as a result of lack of police protection for the firemen when they attempted to run hose lines. Many of the firemen, however, entered the building and assisted in the work of quieting the prisoners, some of whom had become frantic.

Officers threw their clubs, guns and badges of authority to the wind and quit the job cold. This was especially true of many of the younger men who had come into the service under the present administration.

Sheriff Explains Lynching

Sheriff Clark today told the story of how Brown finally came into the possession of the mob.

"The deputy sheriffs had orders to hold Brown and they did all in their power to do so," he said. "When the flames and smoke crowded us off the fourth floor, Commissioner Ringer, Chief Eberstein, Mayor Smith and some police officers started for the freight elevator. The last men into the elevator were Mayor Smith, Commissioner Ringer and Chief Eberstein.

Women Prisoners Flee

"The women prisoners were screaming at the top of their voices. We took 15 women prisoners and released them rather than have them burn in their cells. They escaped from the building.

"Later we took the male prisoners to the roof of the building. They were panic stricken. The colored prisoners seized Brown and tried to push him over the cornice into the crowd below, but white prisoners and deputy sheriffs restrained them.

"I was on my way up a stairway to the roof when a mass of bodies tumbled down over my head and sprawled on the floor beneath me.

Turned Brown Over to Mob

"The colored prisoners had bolted by me with Brown in their clutches. They hurried him to the floor below and turned him over to a crowd of 30 or more who had climbed in the window from an extension ladder. That was the last I saw of Brown.

"We had 120 prisoners in the jail Sunday morning. We released 15 women. Three men prisoners escaped, two were confined for petty offenses, and one for burglary.

or has supported the police administration of Superintendent Ringer, which has been known as the "reform" administration. He has supported such changes in the police personnel as were recommended by Mr. Ringer and this action has been the source of considerable criticism by some newspapers.

Twenty-eight years ago yesterday a negro named Neat was taken from the courthouse and hanged on a pole, just across the street from where Brown met his death.

THE VILLAGE OF MOOSUP

Mrs. Fanny A. Cheney's Astounding Facts Convince Them Rheumatism Is Curable

"The wonderful recovery of Mrs. Fanny A. Cheney of Moosup, Conn.,—not far from Providence—has been the talk of the whole village. To hear her story, several people from Boston journeyed to the village to get the facts direct. "Everyone in Moosup," began Mrs. Cheney, "has been talking about my case. I am fifty odd years old and have suffered agonies from rheumatism of the joints for the past five years. Nearly every joint in my body was affected—my hands, wrists, knees and feet—all were dreadfully swollen from a chalky deposit. Physicians wanted to operate on me and try to remove the deposit. For one year I did not leave my bed without assistance. My legs were drawn up so that they could not be straightened, and to be moved was unbearable agony.

"When I started on Var-Ne-Sis, I was in bed and continually getting worse. For several months I saw little improvement except that my stomach was better and my strength began to return. From an absolutely helpless cripple, who could only turn in bed with the aid of a rope rigged overhead, I am now walking about as you see me. Every day I am growing better and stronger. I thank God for the knowledge that brought Var-Ne-Sis to me.

"I am always glad to hear from rheumatic sufferers and let them know how I regained my health through Var-Ne-Sis. My address is Post Office Box 151, Moosup, Conn."

NEW FARE SCALE

The people of Lowell, or at least, a portion of them, have had an opportunity to test the value of the reduction in fares on the local street railway system, since the dollar tickets good for 10 rides were put on sale. As has been stated repeatedly these tickets are good from certain outlying points to the transfer station and through that centre by continuous ride or transfer to the Boston & Maine depot. Those who wish to pass through Merrimack square for any distance in another direction than towards the depot will have to pay an extra fare, either by having the red ticket punched again, or by paying the full 10-cent fare.

If a man, for example, is riding with his wife and has but one of the red tickets, he can have only one fare counted on that ticket and he will have to pay a full 10-cent fare in addition. While this new arrangement may be beneficial to business people by offering a slight reduction in the fare between their homes and the business centre of the city, it is of very little value to the masses of the people who work in mills and factories and most need a reduction.

The disappointment over the so-called fare reduction has only served to emphasize the fact that the company should have adopted the five-cent fare to and from Merrimack square, without a transfer. That, we are confident would increase the revenue considerably and would overcome to a great extent the unwillingness of the great majority of our population to pay a 10-cent fare, except when obliged by sheer necessity.

Much confusion has been caused by the changes in the rules of the company with reference to the collection of fares. On inward bound cars passengers are to pay as they enter and on outbound as they leave. Passengers who pay a 10-cent fare on taking a car inward and remain on the same car after it passes through the square on the other leg of the route, have been asked to pay another fare on leaving. In such cases the passengers should have an identification slip, but in most cases, neither the passengers nor the conductors remember to follow the minute details of the new rules to this extent with the result that the passenger has to meet the demand for an additional fare. Perhaps after a while the public may become familiar with the new rules, although thus far there is little to encourage any such hope.

THE INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE

It is to be hoped that President Wilson will be able to take part in the conference between representatives of the people and those of labor and capital, called to meet at Washington on October 6. There are great hopes that this conference will result in closer relations between labor and capital and better protection for the public against the result of strikes and lockouts.

At the present time there is need of some new arrangement that will bring about industrial peace and more friendly relations between employers and employees. It seems that the time has arrived when labor is to insist upon some voice in the management of the concerns in which wage earners are engaged. They will at least have a share in deciding under what conditions they will work. It is also probable that the principal of collective bargaining will be conceded, provided that it be not used to take away the rights of employers to maintain the open shop if they so desire. This seems to be the point at issue in the great steel strike. The United States Steel Corporation has firmly stood against recognizing the unions, believing that if they once secured a foothold in the factories they would ultimately unionize all the employees, so that thereafter they would be able to call a strike and force all into idleness. It is against this that Judge Gary is fighting and while he has the right to all the places of strikers, still it appears that the unions are fully justified in insisting upon the right of collective bargaining.

It is all very well for partisans to talk lightly on these matters, but they involve the question of the rights guaranteed under the constitution of the United States to the men who labor and the men or the corporations for whom or for which they labor. There is much confusion and misconception as to the rights of employer and employee, especially when a conflict such as the steel strike is in progress. It would be well if some judicial tribunal would define these rights specifically, so that there might be less confusion and misunderstanding as to what the law guarantees to labor on the one side and capital on the other.

RIVALRY OF CRAFTS

There is a great demand for a reduction in the high cost of living and it comes most persistently from labor organizations that have distinguished themselves by demanding the highest prices for their labor. Among these are the railroad brotherhoods, who received $200,000,000 in increased wages in addition to the $40,000,000 awarded them by the Adamson law. Now they are asking for $250,000,000 more if the high cost of living be not promptly reduced to an extent that will meet their approval.

The example set by the brotherhoods was followed by other employees of the railroad system with the result that the increase in the payroll of railroad employees throughout the country since 1917 has been $1,115,000,000.

This offers a good illustration of how one allied trade will follow another with demands for higher wages. What is true of railroad employees in this respect is equally true of other crafts in various lines of industry. In the building trades, for example, the plumbers seem to lead the way in the rate of wages demanded. The other crafts engaged in the building trades endeavor to keep as close to the plumbers as possible. Carpenters who a few years ago were working for $1 or $1.50 a day, must now receive $1 an hour, or they will not work. The hod carriers see other trades pushing up the rate of wages and as their work is of the most laborious nature, they feel they are entitled to be paid an increase comparable to that received by the other crafts. The common laborers, who use pick and shovel, are determined not to allow the other crafts to get ahead of them, and they insist on getting $4.50 a day, which is the rate paid at the present time by several contractors in this city.

Thus we see there is a great deal of competition among the various trades and crafts, each desiring to keep its wage scale on a level with that of some other craft higher up. In this way contractors are continually harassed with demands for higher wages, shorter hours and better working conditions.

The question now comes, as to when this movement for better wages to meet the high cost of living, will come to a stop. Statisticians assure us that the prices of commodities now are on the downward plane and that there will be a gradual decline until normal conditions are reached. When that time will arrive we have no means of knowing, but certain it is that it may be several years before there is any radical change, either in the cost of living or in the rate of wages.

THE BRITISH STRIKE

England is tied up by a great railroad strike the main object of which is to force a standardization of wages for all railroad crafts, on the basis agreed upon for the locomotive men. The strikers are dealing directly with the government and failure of the British premier to concede the demands of the railroad men was the final act that brought on the crisis despite the fact that the present wage agreement is to continue until Dec. 31.

The whole country suffers because every line of business is affected and if the strike continues for a week, the people in some of the leading cities will be faced with starvation.

This railroad strike is not designated "revolution" but it is so near to what we have known as such that there is very little difference except in the fact that thus far there has been no bloodshed.

If, however, the strike should continue until the people suffer from lack of food or the whereof to purchase it, the strikers will naturally resort to violence which will bring the military forces of the nation into action.

In this strike there is a lesson for every other great nation. In England there is no public tribunal, of course it is barely possible that no labor court, no arbitration board, whose duty it is to deal with such cases. Neither is there any such body in this country and hence strikes we are liable to have a similar strike in the very near future unless steps be taken to head it off.

As we have repeatedly declared, we reassert that strikes on all public service utilities should be prohibited and there should be established a judicial court or board by which all such questions may be equitably settled.

All that is necessary is the legal machinery, but it seems that congress lacks the courage to deal with this question in a manner that will safeguard the public against nationwide strikes which in a short time would not only paralyze all industry but bring famine and death to many thousands of people who have no connection with the dispute.

IF WE WERE HOGS

Congress has done absolutely nothing with the Harding-Pess flu investigation measure, despite the pleas of layman and physician alike. Every health official in the United States has urged the necessity for such an investigation. The American Medical association, including the nation's best doctors, has begged congress to appropriate but a few millions to aid doctors, nurses, hospitals, and the people in fighting the dreaded recurring influenza epidemic.

And congress has done nothing to aid. The bill still lies in a committee pigeon hole.

"If it were hogs instead of humans that were affected congress would have appropriated millions of dollars and an army of the world's leading experts would long ere this, be assembled and working to save the hogs."

That is the opinion of Dr. C. St. Clair Drake, director of the Illinois department of public health. We think the doctor is right. If the flu had killed 500,000 hogs last year (it did kill that many humans) congress would have appropriated five million dollars in five minutes to find the best preventive and curative remedies.

However, it was only humans that were flu victims! And congress doesn't seem to worry much over a little thing like human life.—N. E. A.

PRESIDENT WILSON

It is not at all surprising that President Wilson has been obliged to abandon his speaking tour on the League of Nations. After undergoing the severe strain of arduous labors at the peace conference, it seems that he must have overestimated his own power of endurance to undertake such a tour of public addresses, covering a distance of 10,000 miles.

President Wilson is not as young as he used to be and henceforth cannot expect to stand the strain of arduous labor without greater danger of serious results than in past years. We may differ with the president on his view of the League of Nations and many other questions, but we are bound to respect him on account of his position and his evident purpose to lead the people towards higher ideals.

It is not as yet known what effect his tour of the west will have on public sentiment, although if we are to judge from the published reports, it would appear that his trip has been successful in spite of the opposition offered by Hiram Johnson and a few other senators who are desperately opposed to the League of Nations in any form.

MONAHAN'S COMPLAINT

Candidate Monahan who sought the democratic nomination for governor is out with a complaint that because of the fact that some 125 letters mailed by him to police officers in Springfield were not delivered, he has been wilfully done out of several thousand votes. The Springfield voters, who failed to receive Mr. Monahan's communications, must have been very influential men, if they could increase his vote by some thousands in that city, considering the fact that he received only 9700 in the entire state, while Mr. Long received 53,000. It is understood that Mr. Monahan is to protest to Postmaster General Burleson that he was defeated in the primaries by some failure on the part of the Springfield postoffice to deliver his communications sent to that city. It is entirely in accord with the logic of Mr. Monahan's arguments to claim that because of this alleged laxity on the part of postoffice officials at Springfield he has been robbed of the nomination. Of course it is barely possible that the police authorities of Springfield did not care to allow an incendiary appeal to reach their subor-

GUARD AGAINST INFLUENZA

Prepare Your System. Increase Your Bodily Resistance

Leading physicians are recommending various things for the people to do to guard themselves against the spread of influenza which is expected to break out again this fall and winter. They tell you to keep out of crowded places, avoid being near people who have colds, get out into the sunshine and fresh air, and take plenty of exercise. Get to bed early at night and take a little more sleep and rest than you usually do, eat good, nourishing, wholesome food and tone up your system. Plenty of iron in the blood makes vitality, strength and resisting power against disease. IRON-LAX-TONIC tablets should be taken without delay as a tonic to tone up the system and put iron into the blood.

There is not supposed to be any shortage of this remedy at the present time but if you should find a DRUG STORE where you cannot buy IRON-LAX-TONIC tablets, persist until you find a store that does sell them.

It would be well to keep up the treatment for some weeks. Avoid any substitute offered when you ask for IRON-LAX-TONIC. It is always nearly certain you can reasonably look for the expected results only when you insist on the genuine article. IRON-LAX-TONIC is sold at all first class Drug Stores.—Adv.

The Clever Friend
A senator said at a banquet: "A political campaign, like every other campaign, must be thoroughly organized. Lack of organization, inattention to detail, lead straight to disaster."

"I know a lady who could never have conducted a campaign successfully. She gave a dinner party recently, and to one of her guests, a stranger, she said:

"Mr.—I've paired you off with that fat dame in the corner. Will you take her to dinner? My husband, the wicked witch, says she's a good deal of a frump, but she's got lots of money and one of his clever friends has just married her for it, so we must be as nice to her as we can, mustn't we?"

"I'm sorry, ma'am," said the stranger, "with a stiff little bow, but I happen to be the clever friend in question."—Washington Star.

"Kidding" the Clergy

Strange how the laity likes to tell jokes on the clergy. And they range all the way from yellow-legged chicken to women. And if it isn't the clergy the deacon is likely to be made the party to some unbecomingly action. Usually, when it's the deacon liquor is involved. Witness this story which was sprung for the delight of the Prince of Wales up in Canada:

A stranger had hit the dominion after most of it had gone dry, and he sought a native for the location of a speakeasy.

"Nothing doing," said the native, "unless you've been bitten by a snake."

"Small chance for me," said the stranger, "I never had a snakebite."

"Oh, but Deacon Lyander, up on the hill has a nice tame snake and his bite is perfectly harmless," cheered the native.

Forthwith the stranger found his way to Deacon Lyander's and asked of the snake and the price of a snakebite.

"Yes, I have a snake and he will bite you for a dollar," quoted the deacon. "But he is hooked up six weeks ahead."

This one on a man of the cloth who is noted as a lecturer with a list of sensational subjects originated without malice.

He appeared in a small town chalet and was duly introduced by the chairman as follows:

"The Rev. Mr. Blank will now address us on 'The Devil,' and I am sure that the speaker is full of his subject."

The real live, red-blooded sky pilot appreciates a joke as much as anyone, as many a soldier of the great war learned from association with the priests and ministers who went to the front.

One of this type delights to tell this one on himself:

He was crossing an icy field with the officer of the day in one of the winter campaigns when the officer slipped and fell.

"The wicked stand upon slippery places," quoted the chaplain.

"I see they do, but I can't," flashed back the officer.

And here's another one on the clergy's right hand—for surely the man who passes the collection box is first aid to the pastor:

An English clergyman was astonished one day, while officiating for a friend in a remote moorland church, to find the old vergor abstracted a half-crown from the collection plate before presenting it to the altar rails.

After the service he told the old man that his crime had been discovered. The vergor looked puzzled. Then a sudden light dawned on him:

"Why, sir, you don't mean that I took half-crown of mine? Why, I've led off with this last 15 years."

Such is life.

Do You Know Him?
(Copyright, 1919, N.E.A.)
I do not believe he would heat up a criddle.
I hardly conceive him too fond of his tipple.
I'm inclined to suspect he is true to his wife.
And he lives on the whole, a commendable life.

But oh my eyes glister
With inner sanctification
And whenever I visit his office, I'm sore.
His last I deride and his taste I deplore.
For he's one of those guys with a guard at his door.

I would take his advice upon men and events.
I'd allow him to add his own bill of expense.
I would hand him my roll without counting it twice.
I would buy his old car without haggling the price.

But yet, while I prize him
I also despise him!
His sanctum has all the delight of a tomb;
I meet him in mirth and I leave him in gloom.
For he's one of those guys with one chair in the room.

If he gets up to heaven, I hope it's his fate
That there's neither a latch nor a knob on the gate.
I hope that some cherub will look at him hard
And demand "what's his business?" and call for "his card."

I hope he's kept waiting
Outside of the grating
And when he's let into the private retreat,
I pray that St. Peter tolls back in his seat
And stands the guy up till he blisters his feet!

MAN ABOUT TOWN
With the departure of the United States employment bureau from its quarters at 119 Merrimack street there fades out one of the most interesting features of Lowell's part in the great world war. The lower floor of the Rugg building, part of which the employment bureau occupied for more than a year, was really the centre of all Lowell's war activities and was well named war work headquarters. It was first opened by Otto Hockmeyer in the summer of 1917 and originally used as a canning kitchen for the Lowell women who tried to carry out the principles of Mr. Hoover by forming the women's food conservation committee. This organization did excellent work and then the headquarters came to be used as a recruiting station for the British and Canadian forces. Officers who had served overseas in the early days of the war were assigned there for duty. A little later French officers came along to help out in the work. Then people began coming to 119 Merrimack street for all sorts of information concerning the war until Mr. Hockmeyer decided to make the office a permanent war work headquarters. L. E. Field was chosen secretary to have general charge of the work and he was capablely assisted through the war period by Miss Dorothy S. Leeds. When the war camp community service was doing its first work here in Lowell its office was opened at the war work headquarters. The various Liberty loans, Red Triangle, Knights of Columbus, Red Cross and other war relief campaigns that were staged in this city found the war work headquarters a handy central station. An information bureau concerning Lowell men in the war, data concerning allotments, insurance, etc., were other features of the office. Finally the employment service opened its office in Lowell and Mr. Hockmeyer gladly gave up part of his floor space to the government. With the signing of the armistice the work of the headquarters gradually lessened until finally it ceased altogether and the records and files were removed. The employment service was the last to move and now the war work headquarters has reverted to its former status—an empty store. But within its walls are enshrined many hallowed memories, fitting monuments of Lowell's part in the great struggle.

Some say they never come back, but J. C. Mansuet, the Merrimack street merchant avers the honest ones do come back and to back his statement he relates the following incident, which occurred in his place of business last Saturday forenoon. "One of my customers entered the store," he said, "and asked me why I did not fill orders as given. Not knowing just what he was driving at, I replied that it is our policy to do our very best in waiting on customers and if any wrong had been done I was ready to right it. 'Well,' my customer said, 'a few days ago I came here and ordered from you 15 handkerchiefs at 25 cents apiece and I paid you $4.50 for the goods. You delivered the merchandise all right, but when I counted my handkerchiefs this morning I found 13 instead of 15 and that is why I came here this morning. Having paid you for 15 handkerchiefs and having received 13 of them I still owe you a quarter, and here it is.' Mr. Mansuet stated that the customer who 'came back' has been employed at the state house in Boston for a great many years and if his honesty as anything to do with the keeping of his job he will serve the state by the city of Boston one week from today.

Some folks seem to have little if any realization of the sanctity of an oath. One would suppose that when a man raises his hand and swears to Almighty God that he will tell "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth," he would feel it his sacred duty to do so; and yet how often one goes over to the morning sessions in the police court and finds men and women deliberately perjuring themselves by uttering downright falsehoods on the witness stand. One case in particular, which was tried recently, impressed me. A man was being tried for stealing a watch and for fully half an hour protested by all that was holy that he was not responsible for the theft of the missing timepiece; even his own lawyer believed in his innocence. And then when the case was practically closed and he found himself staring a stiff sentence in the face he admitted that he had hidden the watch and was ready to procure it if the court would be lenient with him. Truly, an oath means very little to some people.

The cardinal will be in Boston three days. He will come on Saturday, and during his stay here will be the guest of Cardinal O'Connell at his residence, Rawson rd., Brookline.

On Sunday, Cardinal Mercier will officiate at the solemn high mass at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross. Plans have not been announced yet by Cardinal O'Connell, but the event promises to make one of the great days in the history of the cathedral. It will mark the first visit to Boston, and to the diocese, and to the cathedral of a foreign cardinal.

There will be a reception tendered by the Catholic women of greater metropolitan Boston and eastern Massachusetts on Sunday afternoon at the Academy of Notre Dame, the Fenway. This will be under the auspices of the League of Catholic Women.

In addition Cardinal Mercier will pay a visit to Boston college on Monday morning, and will be tendered a reception by the priests of the diocese at St. John's Ecclesiastical seminary in the afternoon. He will be a guest at a luncheon with the clergy at 2 p. m. Cardinal Mercier will also pay a visit to Harvard college on Monday afternoon.

IMPORTANT To Lowell's Girl Singers FOR THIS WEEK

Next Week We Are to Have the Greatest Singing Contest Lowell Has Ever Known, No Matter What the Theatre or the Occasion.

Many People Call Mabel Normand the World's Greatest Screen Actress—Thousands of Americans Call "Mickey" the Nation's Greatest Photoplay—And the Song "Mickey" Is the Most Tuneful Our Pianos Have Played This Year.

All Next Week Mabel Normand Will Be Seen at The Owl in This Wonder Production—Accompanying It Will Be What We Think Is the Best Song Contest for Young Women Ever Staged Here.

READ

CONDITIONS OF THE CONTEST

Any young lady in Lowell and vicinity may compete. First contest will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The applause of the audience will decide the winner of it. A second contest will be held Tuesday evening; same conditions.

The third and final contest takes place Wednesday evening. The young lady who won Monday, the Tuesday evening winner, and the Wednesday evening winner will then compete for the grand prize.

Each contestant may bring her own accompanist if she desires; otherwise the theatre pianist will be available.

A contestant, losing Monday evening, may try for the Tuesday evening contest.

Contestants who lose Monday and Tuesday are not barred Wednesday, but the Monday and Tuesday winners do not lose their chance to try against the Wednesday evening winner for the grand prize.

The Monday and Tuesday evening winners cannot try again except for the grand contest Wednesday.

All professional women singers are barred, including Miss Beland, the Owl's regular soloist.

The grand prize is a three-day singing engagement at the Owl for the days, Oct. 2, 3 and 4, at an attractive compensation. The engagement will call for the singer to sing daily, with special advertising and newspaper publicity.

Contestants may wear any costume they desire, it being suggested, however, that if a contestant takes pains to wear a costume copied after one of the many costumes Miss Normand wears in "Mickey" it may possibly enhance her chances for coming under the wire a winner.

All who intend to enter this contest should register at the office of the manager of the Owl, any time this week up to 9 o'clock next Saturday evening. No registrations can be accepted after that time. There is no charge for registration.

Each registrant will be provided with pictures of Miss Normand in the "Mickey" costumes, to take home to be used in making the costume the contestant is to wear next week.

MAY BE ALL RIGHT, BUT LOOKS SILLY

One hundred and twenty-five members of the freshmen class at the Technical school paid due homage to a handful of ruffians this morning shortly after the institution opened its doors for the fall semester. Herded together like a flock of sheep, with jackets turned inside out and thus worn, and in their stocking feet and with trousers legs pulled up to show the "single" and "double grips," the luckless freshmen were marched from the school to Merrimack square.

In the middle of the column walked one man behind a wheel barrow which contained the shoes of the lower classmen and as the square was reached the mob halted while the despised sophs scattered the shoes from curb to curb. This scattering of the footwear would not have amounted to much had not the sophs seen to it that the individual pairs had been broken before being tied together, but as it was the result was evident.

Unlike the biblical hosts the freshmen did not pass over dry shod, for Merrimack street had been recently soaked by the car sprinkler and water oozed between toes as they marched along. Dark stains of water and mud spread higher and higher over ankles caused in delicate silken hose of purple, gray and blue, but the freshmen marched with heads erect and with happy smiles spread over their faces. Gladly did they endure the shouts of derision which were hurled from the sidewalk society officers were forced to kill and they took the gibes of the sophs with the spirit of martyrs, for not a single one of the 250 and more socks bore the semblance of a hole. Water soaked and muddy, still the socks of 1919 were able to show their colors to the world, while. Next year they will be sophomores and then...

ARREST IN BLACKHAND CASE AT BROCKTON

BROCKTON, Sept. 29.—"Leave the sum of $2500 under the white-washed stone on Thatcher street shown by the diagram at once or the life of you and your wife won't be worth a damn." This startling letter concerning the proverbial blackhand sign was received several days ago by George E. Keith, head of the Walker Shoe company interests, accompanied by a chart of the city designating the stone under which the blackmailer directed his intended victim to place the money.

Acting on several clues which have been diligently followed for the past few days, Miner W. Thompson, 55 years old, a stone mason, residing on Thatcher street, close by the spot mentioned as the repository of the money, was arrested shortly after midnight by the Brockton officers and locked up at headquarters on the temporary charge of attempted blackmail. He will be arraigned in the Brockton police court today.

The police allege that they have the would-be blackmailer, several clues leading up to his arrest being indisputable. According to one of the inspectors detailed on the case a dummy package was placed beneath the stone as directed, while the officers lay in waiting. Thompson called personally to learn the result of his alleged threat, but was not taken into custody at the time, the police shadowing him closely while other clues were run down.

With the dragnet drawn tightly around the elderly man, he was taken from his home early yesterday morning.

Mr. Keith, one of Brockton's most prominent citizens, turned the letter over to the police upon receiving it in the morning mail. It was written in an ordinary scrawl, no attempt having been made evidently to conceal the identity of the writer. The outline of a large hand was traced on the sheet.

Mr. Keith is noted for his philanthropy, having in times past contributed liberally to charitable and war work emergencies, and is the shoe city's wealthiest citizen. Thompson has a wife and three children and has lived in Brockton a number of years.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come:

N. P. KETTER'S THEATRE

James G. Morton, aided and abetted by three other Morton, burst into view at the N. P. Ketter theatre, today, giving their irresistibly funny comedy travesty. Morton is very well known wherever vaudeville is given, and he is known as a wholly original performer whose every minute on the stage is given over to laugh-making. Associated with him are Edna, Mamie and Alfred Morton, and advance notices dealing with the performance of the four dwell on the fact that they offer a three-act comedy of fun from the time their heads are seen until they take their curtain bows. Morton is justly remembered as one of the most famous of our native funny men. He is acclaimed the one world famous virtuoso of the photo-recording. Others there have been—and are—but no one of them has succeeded in extracting as much classic merriment out of the instrument as has Morton. Wherever talking machine records are known there is Pietro applauded.

His repertoire is an uncommonly long one, embracing practically all of the famous overtures and fantasias. Really, these tell of the worth of the man as a musician, for the playing of the popular stuff today means no tax on one's abilities. Pietro, however, wants to suit all tastes, and so he has fashioned a repertoire which will give to everybody something which he most likes.

Once upon a time, and it wasn't so many years ago, there was a very novel quartet of funmakers called the Four Sullys. They were all of one family, and New York saw them engaged from one season's end to another's beginning. An accident to one of the members of the family made it necessary that the family should split up, and that is why Wilbur Sully and Genevieve Houghton are to be found on this week's bill in a dainty comedy called "Between Dances." It was specially prepared for them by Aaron Hoffman. Wilbur Sully is a tried and true comedy entertainer and Miss Houghton is present in the act with all of the things that make a pretty woman popular.

"Contrary," a brand new comedy, will be presented by Lida MacMillan and Bert Snow. It was written for them by Mack Esplan. Since Miss MacMillan has returned from "over there" she admits that she has a deeper appreciation of humanity than ever before. Playing continuously to thousands of American soldiers gave her something in method which she never had before. And she says it is just as apparent in comedy as in a straight dramatic offering.

A charming bit of femininity is Adelaide Boothby who, with Charles Everdeen at the piano, will give an act made up of several good things. There will be humor and music and a general air of gaiety about Phil Ray and Roy Arthur will present and acrobatic oddity called "A Chinese Restaurant," whose physical development is perfectly wonderful. In addition to these seven good acts there will be shown the Keith News Weekly, Topics of the Day and a Bruce Scenic picture.

"THE MIRACLE MAN" MAKES WITH GREAT FILM MASTER-PIECES
Published originally as a novel in Munsey's magazine, written by Frank L. Packard and later dramatized by George M. Cohan and presented with brilliant success in Broadway, "The Miracle Man" opened a week run at the Merrimack Square Theatre this afternoon. As a motion picture this absorbing story has been hailed by the critics as one of the best productions ever seen on the screen. With scenes laid in the heart of criminals in New York's Chinatown, in a little village on the side of a giant mountain and on the shore of a roaring ocean, the opportunity for wonderful photographic effects has been realized to the limit.

But the chief interest is in the striking story, which centers about the venerable figure of an old patriarch, who is credited with the power to lead the sick and make crippled limbs whole again. To him come from Europe and his land of crooked from New York's Chinatown with the plea of curing in his power. But a secret work out as they catered to hidden away, each of them is a haven of greed, when slowly comes to the surface in the influence of the old patriarch's power. In a most surprising way the criminals are reclaimed from the path of crime.

FIND SKELETON OF MAN ON BEACH

GLOUCESTER, Sept. 29.—Henry and Peter White, residing on Concord st., made a gruesome discovery at Wingarsheet Beach Saturday afternoon. While sitting at a target one placed a bottle on what he at first supposed to be a stone. Close examination, however, proved it to be a skull.

The discovery was reported to the police yesterday. Inspector Curtis went to the scene and uncovered the skeleton of a man about 5 feet 9 inches tall. A pair of shoes, evidently those of a working man, was found. These shoes were pegged and of a make worn about 25 years ago. A further examination of the scene will be made today. The spot where the body was found is about 100 feet from the center of the beach in a sandy locality.

Influenced by a woman who came to her home selling stock in the League of Nations—stock with reservations at 50 a share, and without at 100 a share, a Birmingham woman reported to the police that she had invested $1000 in the stock.

INFORMATION BUREAU DOES GOOD WORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—More than $10,000 has been given for war relief in the last twelve months by contributors who have been protected against worthless appeals by the endorsement service of the national information bureau, according to the first annual report of the bureau, made public at its office here.

The bureau, which operates on a co-operative, non-commercial basis, has investigated 320 different agencies seeking funds from the public. Only ninety-three met its requirements as to responsibility and efficiency and were endorsed. A third of these changed their methods considerably in order to secure endorsement. The bureau refused to endorse 105. Other investigations disclosed the fact that applicants about which members of the bureau inquired were really commercial or fell outside its scope for other reasons.

Organizations were endorsed only if they had a necessary non-duplicating purpose, kept full accounts audited regularly by a certified public accountant, agreed not to raise money by solicitations or commission and met other standards.

The bureau helped the district attorney of New York to put out of business a number of fraudulent war charities, and Edwin P. Kilroe, assistant district attorney, acknowledged its assistance in the published report of a hearing before the United States senate committee on military affairs.

"The public has now been pretty thoroughly aroused to a healthy skepticism," the report states, "and fraudulent enterprises on a large scale are not so easily floated as during the early part of the war. The vitality of many relatively small enterprises of a very suspicious, if not actually criminal character is, however, surprising."

The bureau has rendered 1373 reports in response to inquiries from contributors. It has published two lists of endorsed agencies, and has furnished detailed, confidential information to its members, including war chests, chambers of commerce, and individuals.

"Net results of the work begun by the bureau of advice and information of the Charity Organization Society of New York and continued by this bureau have included the practical disappearance of the commission method of raising money among war charities and a great improvement in their methods of business administration."

On August 1, 1919, the bureau began to investigate national, social, civic and philanthropic agencies asking funds from the public. It will shortly publish an endorsed list of organizations in this class which comply with the new standards adopted by a committee representing the contributing public and social workers.

CHAPTER OF WEEK END AUTO ACCIDENTS

An automobile owned and operated by R. B. Dean, of 118 Powell street turned turtle in Chelmsford street at a point near Forrest street yesterday afternoon and although the driver was pinned underneath the machine he was not seriously injured. The cause of the accident was the striking of a rut in the road.

A collision between a motorcycle and an automobile took place Saturday afternoon at the corner of Orleans and Middleth streets, but no serious damage was caused. The machine is owned by Ingram B. Bennett, of Dracut, who reported to the police that the operator of the motorcycle, whose name could not be learned, was driving his car at a high rate of speed when the accident occurred.

While driving his automobile on the Lowell-Lawrence boulevard at about 1 o'clock yesterday morning, William C. St. George, of 10 Billerica street was run into by another machine which was being towed down the road. Both cars were damaged, but the drivers were uninjured.

A Mr. Scarlett, of North Tewksbury reported running over a dog Saturday with his automobile in Church street. The name of the owner of the dog is unknown.

A boy named Tallon, residing in Hanover street was run over by an automobile owned and operated by Robert L. Rawlinson of the Majestic Chambers Saturday afternoon. The accident occurred when the little fellow ran into the path of the machine at the corner of Merrimack and Hanover streets. He was taken to the Lowell Corporation hospital, where it was found that he was not seriously injured.

An automobile owned and operated by Frank P. Curtin of Chelmsford was struck by an electric car in Middlesex street Saturday evening and was pushed into another automobile near South street. Both machines were slightly damaged.

ELSIE WILSON SHE CAN'T GET BY

NEW YORK.—Elsie Wilson, 22, cut her hair, donned sailor garb and got a job as coal passer on the transport Plattsburg, Southampton to New York. But she couldn't get by eagle-eyed American immigration inspectors. Four times she has tried to smuggle her way into the United States and been sent back to England. "Things have gone on the blink in the old country and I heard so much about the states that I wanted to try it," she told officials.

Maj. Gen. Wood in Charge of Troops Ordered to Omaha to Quell Race Riot

NEGRO LYNCHED NIGHT OF TERROR

Federal Troops Control Omaha, After Night of Mob Rule—Courthouse Burned

Attempt to Hang Mayor—One Man Killed, 40 Others Injured—Mob Fired Jail

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Major General Leonard Wood, commanding the central department, with headquarters at Chicago, has been directed by Secretary Baker to proceed to Omaha where federal troops were sent last night to quell a race riot.

Mr. Baker communicated with General Wood after he had received a message from the governor of Nebraska asking for federal aid. The troops were ordered from Fort Omaha by General Wood, the secretary said.

An appeal for help was received late last night by Senator Hitchcock, democrat, Nebraska, from the sheriff at Omaha. It was referred to Mr. Baker. Congressional investigation of recent race riots over the country proposed in a resolution by Senator Curtis, republican, Kansas, was considered today by the senate judiciary committee, but action was deferred. Acting Secretary of Labor Post wrote the committee endorsing the resolution, but opposition in the committee developed and the resolution went over for a week.

Opponents said they believed race clashes were matters for the states to deal with and doubted whether congressional investigation would be helpful.

Night of Mob Rule

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 29.—After a night of mob rule during which a negro was lynched, an attempt made to hang the mayor of Omaha, Edward P. Smith, the county courthouse burned, one man shot and killed, and perhaps 40 others injured, the city was quiet today, under patrol of federal troops from Fort Crook and Fort Omaha.

Mayor Still in Hospital

The mayor is still in a hospital as a result of the attempt made by the mob to hang him to a trolley pole because he advised against the lynching of William Brown, a negro who was in the county jail, charged with attacking a white girl on the outskirts of the city early last week. He recovered consciousness this morning but was still in a critical condition.

Mayor Smith was seized by the mob on 17th street, near the courthouse, about 10 o'clock, and was threatened with lynching. He was hustled to Harney street and stopped at the foot of a trolley pole, on the crossarm of which was a coil of rope.

100 Deputies Participated in Battle—Cabinet May Resign

ROME, Sunday, Sept. 29.—Debate in the chamber of deputies, was interrupted today by a free fight which lasted 10 minutes and in which about 100 deputies participated. The opinion is expressed in some quarters that the cabinet as a result of the riotous incident, may decide to resign rather than plunge the country into a struggle during the general election. It is asserted the fight in the chamber indicates what would occur in the country.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Railroads running out of London attempted today to operate trains on skeleton schedules. Hitherto the strike has caused almost total suspension of traffic on English roads.

Ninety Percent Idle in Scotland

Ninety percent of the railway workers in Scotland are idle, but a few trains were run there on Sunday for passengers and perishable goods. Reports state these trains were operated by union men who were desirous of getting to their homes, and that these men have nearly all joined those who obeyed the first call from the National Union of Railwaymen. Irish roads are not as yet involved in the strike, but the men there have been instructed by union headquarters to hold themselves in readiness to walk out at any moment.

Fear Strike Will Spread

Concern is felt over the possibility of the strike spreading to the miners and transport workers unions, which are affiliated with the National Union of Railwaymen. James Henry Thomas, leader of the railroad workers, said

SUGAR SHORTAGE HERE

Mayor and City Sealer Will Consult Commission at State House Tomorrow

Municipal machinery to relieve the sugar shortage in this city and to ascertain why certain dealers are able to get a far greater proportion of the meagre supply that is coming here than are others was put in motion this morning when Mayor Perry D. Thompson and Warren P. Riordan, sealer of weights and measures, held a conference in the former's office and decided to bring the matter personally before the state commission of the necessities of life at the state house in Boston tomorrow morning.

For several months past Lowell people have suffered in varying degrees from the lack of sugar in the city. Evidence has been forthcoming that Boston and other cities near Lowell have been able to get a fairly normal supply while this city has had to resort to brown sugar and other stringless mementoes of war days. Why this should be the case and what can be done to remedy existing conditions will be problems laid before the state commission tomorrow.

Mr. Riordan says that he has abundant evidence to show that certain local dealers are getting more than their share of sugar. All that he wants is authority to investigate the cases further so that the real reason for the inequitable distribution may be forthcoming.

He cites the case of a Boston man who brought a carload of sugar into Lowell on the 12th of the present month and sold it at retail from the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad. This practice is in violation of the regulations of the road, now a federal organization, and Mr. Riordan called the attention of the local agent to the fact. The latter admitted that the sale had taken place before the railroad officials could prevent it, but that it was a pure violation.

Mr. Riordan immediately wrote to John H. Sherburne, chairman of the commission of the necessities of life, and laid the facts of the case before him. The latter replied that the dealer in question had no right whatever to do what he did, especially in view of the present shortage of sugar. He promised that the case would be investigated.

In order to take this and other matters up personally with the commission as well as to see if more sugar can be diverted to this city, the mayor and Mr. Riordan decided to appear before the commission and as a result of their appearance something definite in the way of relief may be produced.

SPIRITED DEBATE IN U. S. SENATE

Resolutions Relating to Landing of U. S. Marines at Trau the Cause

Charge Great Britain Delivering Orders to U. S. Navy in Italian Waters

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Two resolutions relating to the landing of American sailors at Trau, Dalmatia, after Italian forces had taken possession, were introduced in the senate today and precipitated debate. One by Senator Sherman, republican, Illinois, would declare unwarranted "interference by the United States with the Italian boundary," and that any action by the landing forces would have no binding force on the American government. It was referred to the foreign relations committee.

Another resolution by Senator New, republican, Indiana, would request the state department to inform the senate at the earliest possible moment as to the truth of reports that the landing of the Americans was made under orders of the British admiralty. At the request of Senators Hitchcock, Nebraska and Thomas, Colorado, democrats, the measure went over until tomorrow.

Discussing his resolution, Senator Sherman said this country had been "so long proceeding under the fiction of a League of Nations not yet formed, that it was departing from the old line of government."

"Great Britain," he declared, "is delivering orders to the United States navy in Italian waters. I refuse to recognize its authority since the revolutionary war to order the American navy anywhere at any time."

The senator contended that such action would place the United States in armed conflict with at least part of the Italian government.

In asking that the New resolution go over, Senator Hitchcock pointed out that the senate already had adopted a resolution asking Secretary Daniels for a report on the landing of the sailors and said he thought it was beneath the dignity of the senate to "harass the departments upon matters with which we are very little concerned."

Sensors evidently were proceeding on the assumption that peace had been concluded, which was not the case. Senator Hitchcock said. He explained that supervision over part of the Dalmatian coast had been temporarily allotted to the United States by the supreme council at Paris and that the American sailors were landed merely to maintain conditions as they had existed.

"But we are not at a state of war with Serbia, or Italy," interrupted Senator McCormick, republican, Illinois.

Sensor Hitchcock agreed, but added that during the war all orders for American military or naval forces were not issued in Washington.

"When did we go to war with Italy?" asked Senator Lodge.

"We didn't," replied the Nebraskan senator.

"Yes, but it was Italians we drove out," rejoined Senator Lodge.

Sensor Hitchcock declared the landing of American sailors had been necessitated by the fact that the Italians were "virtually in insurrection" adding that it was understood that the allied countries were practically in accord as to what was being done on the Dalmatian coast.

Sensor Moses, republican, New Hampshire, asked whether Senator Hitchcock whose home is in Omaha, thought the situation in that city resulting from the lynching last night was such as to require the landing of Italian marines in order to restore order.

"No. This country is capable of taking care of the situation," was the reply.

Pointing out that press despatches had said the sailors were landed on the "orders of the supreme council," Senator Brandegee, republican, Connecticut, said he was not aware who represented the United States on the council.

Expected Test of Strength Between Steel Plants and Strikers Fails to Occur

Sailings to British Ports Cancelled

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—All sailings to ports in Great Britain have been cancelled by the shipping board because of the strike of railway workers there. The following instructions have been sent by the division of operations to operations officers at all ports:

"To avoid congestion and bunkering difficulties as a result of the British railway strike and in line with action likely to be taken by their owners, all sailings of shipping board vessels for United Kingdom suspended and vessels ordered held in port. Discontinue at once further bookings, loadings and clearances for United Kingdom ports."

W. F. Taylor, assistant director of the division of operations, said ships held in port under the order would be allocated to other trade as rapidly as possible. Ships now loaded or nearly loaded will be despatched as soon as they are ready to countries other than England.

As Great Britain supplies most of the world supply of bunker coal the closing of British ports to shipping board vessels makes the bunker problem serious. The shipping board, however, is making arrangements with

King Albert in Boston Sunday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Boston will be the first city to be visited by King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, after they leave New York this week on a tour of the United States. They will be in Boston next Sunday.

The king and queen are expected to arrive in New York Friday. Their tour of the country will last several weeks and at its conclusion, they will visit this city to be received by the president and the senate. Arrangements for the reception of the king by the senate Saturday were cancelled today after the announcement from the White House that the condition of the president's health would not permit him to receive the royal visitors upon their arrival in the United States.

The state department had expected to make public today plans for the entertainment of the royal party in this country, but the announcement was withheld because of the change in the original arrangement under which King Albert would have come to Washington first to be the guest of President Wilson at the White House.

Cardinal Will Also Be Present

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—The change in the itinerary of the king and queen of the Belgians by which they are to be here next Sunday will bring to Boston on the same day the three principal figures in Belgium during the war, Cardinal Mercier having previously arranged to visit the city on that day. Mayor Peters received the announcement of the change in the date of the royal guests' visit in a telegram from Acting Secretary of State Phillips, to which he replied that "it will be my privilege to arrange for their reception on whatever day it is most convenient for them to come."

The change in the program, Secretary Phillips said, was conditional upon the response which was expected from the king.

GAINS CLAIMED BY BOTH SIDES

Opposing Leaders in Steel Strike Issue Flatly Contradictory Statements

Bethlehem Officials Say Few of 40,000 Obey Strike Call—Union Men Disagree

(By Associated Press.)

Today, proclaimed by both sides as one of crucial test in the great steel strike, opened with the situation still obscure because of conflicting claims.

The opposing leaders issued flatly contradictory statements in regard to the scheduled strike of the 40,000 workers in the plants of the Bethlehem Steel corporation. The corporation officials claimed that the strike call had been obeyed only by a comparatively insignificant number and that operations in all their mills were continuing. The union chiefs replied with a claim that the huge plant at Bethlehem was completely crippled and that the power house had been forced to close.

SHOTS FIRED IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—There was no material change in the steel strike situation in the Chicago district today. The expected test of strength between the steel plants and the strikers did not occur. The big plants continued to operate with limited forces and a few more strikers were reported to have gone back to work.

The only violence reported was at the Illinois Steel company, in South Chicago, where a number of shots were fired at the windows of one of the company's buildings and one arrest was made.

Representatives of the Indiana Steel company, at Gary, Ind., expressed the opinion that the backbone of the strike had been broken, and declared that they expected to be operating at full capacity within a week or 10 days.

Union labor leaders said that fewer men were at work in the Chicago district than at any time since the beginning of the strike and that the effort of the steel plants to resume operations on a large scale today had resulted in failure.

CORBETT'S LEAD INCREASED

Representative Thomas J. Corbett increased his lead over Dennis J. Donohoe by 10 votes in the fight for the democratic nomination for representative in the 15th district, embracing Wards 4 and 5, as a result of a recount held in the aldermanic chamber at city hall this afternoon by the board of registrars in response to a petition filed by Mr. Donohoe. The new figures give Mr. Corbett a total vote of 215 and Mr. Donohoe a total of 213. The original totals were: Mr. Corbett, 235; Mr. Donohoe, 211. The recount increases Representative Corbett's lead from 122 to 132.

BUILDINGS GONE FROM AUDITORIUM SITE

With the exception of Dana's garage at East Merrimack and Stackpole streets, there is not a building standing today on the site of the proposed memorial auditorium surrounded by E. Merrimack, Stackpole and Brown sts. The last building to come down was that opposite the garage and this morning employees of Stearns Bros. of Chelsea, who bought the buildings at public auction, began tearing down the last remaining vestige of the group of lodging houses that for years were a familiar sight to residents of Belvidere and the Oaklands.

The site today is a mass of ruins above which chimneys rear their naked heights. One is able to gain a better idea of just how great a piece of land the proposed building is to occupy now that the old buildings have been razed.

The next step in the work will be the cutting down of the trees still standing in Brown and Stackpole sts and the general clearing of the land. On Oct. 15 the auditorium commission will open bids for the erection of the building.

Deputies in Fight

Premier Nitti in the chamber today. Ten members refrained from casting their ballots.

The correct figures for the vote are 205 to 148, instead of 203 to 140 as at first reported.

The chamber adjourned tonight until Wednesday, when it will decide whether a vote shall be taken on the question of discussing the peace treaties.

Several Duels Announced. In consequence of the fight in the chamber several duels were announced between deputies and between deputies and journalists.

A prolonged heated discussion preceded the riotous scene. The members of the parliamentary league insisted upon asking the government whether it intended to discuss the treaties be-turkey that will stand alone. Use a piece of paper 2 inches wide by 1½ inches long. Fold it in the center along the dotted line shown in the sketch.

Then mark off one side in half-inch squares and draw the turkey as shown by the heavy dark lines in the diagram. Cut him out and stand him up. It would be fun to paint his brown and red coat upon him with water-colors.

Core adjournment. Premier Nitti answered that he would first have a vote of confidence, and then whatever cabinet should be in power would decide what should be done. Thereupon members of the parliamentary league invaded the ministers' bench, shouting and gesticulating.

A party of socialists, thereupon rushed from their seats and faced their adversaries, the group soon engaging in fist-cuffs.

Premier Nitti, who had left the government benches, returned to his place when the disturbance had somewhat subsided. He was greeted with applause.

The adjournment taken after the vote of confidence was amid great excitement, many deputies expressing doubt as they dispersed, as to whether the government really intended bringing the matter of the discussion of the treaties upon Wednesday. The belief seemed rather to be that the chamber would be dissolved for general elections.

The vicinity of the chamber was occupied by police, carabinieri and troops and groups that gathered to attempt demonstrations for or against the government were dispersed.

The debate was opened by Deputy Turati, leader of the official socialists. "What is happening today is the outgrowth of the war," he declared. "War arouses all appetites and the more you attempt to gratify them the less you succeed in satisfying them."

He attacked those who, he said, for three years had ignored the fact that Plumo was Italian and had sanctioned its going to the Croats. He believed, however, that Plumo would be better placed as the capital of an autonomous state than otherwise.

Italy had "called America to her rescue."

Condemning the d'Annunzio raid upon Plume, he continued: "After making war upon Germany and Austria, we are now preparing for war against Jugo-Slavia, but which of the American banks will supply us with the funds?"

He argued that it would be only the power of the proletariat that could save Italy from either militarism or Bolshevism.

"We socialists, even the mildest among us," he continued, "if put to a choice between militarism and Bolshevism will not hesitate to choose the latter."

"The solution of the present difficulties cannot be found in the parliament, but in the people, who must decide and pass sentence on what is done and express their views on what they wish done. Likewise, the peace treaty must be discussed by the people. All this can be accomplished through general elections."

Council Soderini, a Catholic deputy, supported the plan of proclaiming Plumo Italian. At the same time he condemned what he characterized as "dangerous adventures" and urged the necessity of re-establishing army discipline.

MUNICIPAL BATH HOUSE

5000 People Attend Formal Opening of Lowell's Public Bath House

The Merrimack river came into its own as a pleasure resort yesterday afternoon when 5000 people lined its banks to take part in the formal opening of the new municipal bath house at the swimming pool off Varnum avenue. Ideal weather marked the opening day and an excellently arranged program of exercises and swimming races gave genuine pleasure to the large Sunday afternoon crowd in attendance.

The U. S. Cartridge Co. band, William Regan, director, furnished a concert during the afternoon and the Honey Boy quartet assisted in keeping the crowd entertained. The concert began at 2 o'clock and continued until 4 when Mayor Perry D. Thompson made a brief speech of congratulation and turned the building over to the public. The mayor also presented prizes to the winners of the various swimming events.

One feature which detracted a little from the otherwise complete success of the occasion was the poor car service furnished by the street railway company. Extra cars were unusually conspicuous by their absence and the small closed cars which were run on regular schedule proved all too congested for the hundreds who wanted to take part in the opening.

The first number was the general inspection of the new building by the visitors. Doors were thrown open in both the men and women's departments and John W. Kernan, superintendent of the park department, and Michael P. Ryne, swimming instructor at the pool, were on hand to escort the visitors about the building and explain the various features which have been dealt with in these columns previously. Everybody expressed him or herself well pleased with the conveniences of the bath house which will take care of 200 bathers at a time and congratulations for the park commission were in order.

Shortly after 2:30 Instructor Ryne and Commodore James H. Walker went to the raft stationed about 50 yards off shore and announced the first event, the 50-yard swim for boys under 15 years of age. There were six entrants in this race and the course was from the raft to the shore. Commodore Walker was the starter and after a spirited tussle in the water Andrew Molloy was the first to reach shore and win the first prize. Second honors went to George Lomas, who was close behind.

The second event was a swim of the same distance and over the same course for boys less than 13 years old. Paul Farrell was the first to gain the objective in this event and Charles LeBrun was second. Frank Barrett also proved a fast swimmer but when he had reached the half-way mark his path was blocked by one "Dog" who howled and barked when the boys struck the water and unable to resist the temptation to take part in the contest himself, plunged into the water and help up young Barrett. In view of the circumstances the judges thought that Barrett should be given a prize for his efforts and the park commissioners agreed that he should be given third money.

Event No. 3 was a demonstration of swimming with hands and feet tied by Inspector Ryne. Mr. Ryne swam from the raft to shore by twisting and twirling his body about in the manner of a Houdini and got a big hand when he finally made shore.

In the next event the embryo Annette Kellermans of the city alone. Although there were but two contestants the plunge was a spirited one. Englantine Morin was adjudged first prize winner and Elsie Robitaille came in a close second.

The big event of the afternoon was the 200-yard swim for the championship of the city open to all residents of Lowell. The course was from the North Chelmsford side of the river to the shore immediately in front of the bath house.

There were five entrants and Walter Bourque, a comparatively young waterman, came in only a foot ahead of Ernest Turcotte. The final events were a demonstration of various swimming strokes by Mr. Ryne and a life-saving and artificial respiration exhibition by Mr. Ryne and Mr. Bourque.

The crowd then adjourned to the space in front of the bath house to listen to Mayor Thompson. The mayor spoke of the auspicious circumstances surrounding the opening of the new building and said he hoped this might be an auger of continued success in the efforts of the municipal authorities to provide suitable recreational opportunities for the young and old of the city.

Plans were under way, he said, to improve the land surrounding the bath house so that it might form a sort of a park where the mothers of Lowell might bring their children during warm summer weather and enjoy the beauties of the riverbank.

In closing he congratulated the members of the park commission on the rapidity with which the bath house was completed. He also thanked his associates in the municipal council for voting for the necessary money to erect the building. To Instructor Ryne he paid a very glowing tribute for his valuable services during the last two years as the friend of every man, woman and child who visited the pool.

Suitable prizes, donated by local merchants at the suggestion of the board of trade, were then awarded the winners of the various races by the mayor and with a concluding selection by the band, the afternoon's program was over.

The officials of the afternoon were Commodore James H. Walker, Timothy P. O'Sullivan, George "Lefty" Tyler of the Chicago Cubs' baseball team, Harry C. Briggs, John A. Hunnewell, Miss Katherine Cronin, Miss Lena Doyle and Miss Madeline Crevier. Through the courtesy of the Lowell Boat club a launch was available for the officials.

DAUGHTERS OF ST. GEORGE

The 33d annual convention of the Independent Order of Daughters of St. George will open in this city this evening with an address in Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street by Rev. N. W. Matthews, pastor of the Gorham Street P. M. church. The business session will open tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the same hall and it is expected considerable business will be transacted. On Wednesday evening the delegates, who will come from various parts of New England will be entertained by the Sons of St. George, who will provide tugueon and an entertainment. Thursday evening the visitors will attend the regular performance at the B. F. Keith theatre. The arrangements for the convention are in the hands of the members of Princess lodge, 12 of this city.

MEANT "ALL OUT"

An alarm from box 34 yesterday afternoon summoned a portion of the department to the railroad tracks in the vicinity of the Hale street bridge, for a blaze in a carload of baled cotton. The firemen responded quickly and shortly after their arrival they had the fire under control. Chief Saunders gave orders for the sounding of the all-out signal, but his order was misunderstood with the result that a second alarm was sounded.

HELPING EX-SERVICE MEN

Many Lowell men, who came back from the war disabled and unable to tackle the jobs on which they were working prior to entering the service are studying new trades at various vocational schools, in and out of the city and receiving pay from Uncle Sam while learning, as a result of the activities of the home service department of the local Red Cross chapter, which was organized to assist former service men, particularly those disabled. James S. Drapery, director of the department, receives calls from fully 400 ex-service men each month and whether it is an artificial leg or a tarry allotment which is sought, he can be relied on to use his efforts to aid them.

LITHUANIAN CHOIR CONCERT

An enjoyable concert was given at the Colonial theatre on Middlesex street by the Lithuanian choir of Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill last evening. Miss Mary Karuski of this city was the principal soloist, and the program was directed by Joseph Zuron of Haverhill. Miss Karuski was chairman of the committee on arrangements and to her is due a large share of credit for the success of the event.

FOR RAILWAY SHOPMEN

National Agreement Proposed
by Wilson Will Become
Effective Oct. 20

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The national agreement on working conditions for railway shopmen establishing uniform rules for 600,000 men as proposed in President Wilson's reply to the demand of the men for increased wages will become effective Oct. 20 and remain in force until the end of government control of the roads. It was learned today that the agreement had been signed by the railroad administration and six international unions affiliated with the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor.

WOULD END FEDERAL SUGAR CONTROL

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—President Wilson has been advised by the United States sugar equalization board, it was learned today that in its opinion it is too late to consider a continuance of government sugar control throughout next year. The board automatically goes out of office on December 31.

Already one million tons or one-quarter of the new crop of Cuban sugar has been sold, it is said, mainly to foreign buyers, at a price averaging 6½ cents a pound. Last year the board purchased the entire Cuban crop of more than 3,500,000 tons at 5½ cents.

American refiners, in view of the foreign demand and heavy domestic requirements, the equalization board stated, are now at liberty to enter the market for the new Cuban crop, the unsold portion of which exceeds 2,500,000 tons.

TABLET UNVEILED AT WESTLAWN

A memorial tablet was unveiled in honor of Edward Rowe, one of the members of the Lowell Salvation Army who made the supreme sacrifice for democracy, at the Westlawn cemetery yesterday afternoon. The services were under the auspices of Clan Grant, of which the young man was a member, and music was furnished by the "Sally" band.

At the morning services of the Salvation Army yesterday Adit Klepsie took for his topic: "Sanctification and Service." The afternoon topic was: "He Hears—He Sees," and at the evening service he spoke on the theme: "Seeking and Finding Jesus." A large attendance was present at all services.

Run Few Cars Continued

Yesterday he would ask the assistance of the triple alliance only in case he could not fight the railroad question alone. Robert Smilie, leader of the miners' union, speaking at Glasgow last night, said that, because of the fact that the mines and railroads were closely related, 90 percent of the coal diggers of the country would be idle in a few days.

people to economize as much as possible in petrol, fuel and food.

Miss Eleanor Hopwood has been placed in charge of food distribution in this city. She has long been assistant commissioner in the ministry of food, and was previously secretary to a big commercial firm. She takes an optimistic view. "The public need not worry, in her view, as she is confident that the strikers will be defeated. She said the government's appeal for volunteers to operate the railways and other essential services of the country is meeting with a big response."

100,000 Miners Idle

One hundred thousand miners are idle in the South Wales coal fields as a result of the railroad strike. Many collieries are closing down and the Swansea harbor trade is paralyzed.

Announce Improvement

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Improvement in the situation created by the general strike on the British railways was announced today in the following statement from Downing street:

"The general strike situation is improving. The government measures are working satisfactorily. Food distribution is proceeding smoothly and offers of voluntary assistance are still pouring in."

Thousands Forced Out of Work

There were no indications today that the strike would immediately spread to the miners and transport workers. The labor leaders said they were unwilling to call out the miners or transport workers unless there was urgent need of their assistance. The stoppage of transportation, however, is automatically throwing thousands of miners out of work.

While nearly every railroad in the United Kingdom made some effort to run trains, the railway itself approached completeness as nearly as the most ardent union man could hope. Meanwhile the government, by inaugurating a system of motor lorry transportation, planned in detail during the war in case of a German invasion, supplied the cities with milk and

BLANKET WEEK

Sept. 29 - Oct. 6

BLANKET WEEK starts today in our Blanket department, and will continue until October 6th. This year manufacturer, jobber and retailer have united to make National Blanket Week an exceptional opportunity for the housekeeper to obtain unusual values in blankets of all grades. Blankets are scarce and prices are advancing. Therefore this week will be an opportune time for householders to get a good supply of fine fleecy blankets at special low prices. With Good Blankets for as little as $3.98. Others—well, read the following items:

HOW BLANKETS ORIGINATED—It was in the cold winter of 1340 that the blanket was first introduced. Its inventor, Thomas Blanket, was a Flemish merchant, who had settled in Bristol and had fallen from affluence to want. He and his wife, suffering from the intense cold by reason of scanty bedding and lack of fuel, searched for something to put on the bed to increase the warmth. They hit upon a piece of rough unfinished cloth. That had suggested the manufacture of special bed covers of the same material and these articles to which he gave his own name, won him wealth.

Utmost Value in Heating $114 World's Greatest Invention

New IDEAL-Arcola Radiator-Boiler

Puts IDEAL HOT WATER HEATING comfort at low cost in cottages, flats, or stores, with or without cellars.

The IDEAL-Arcola takes the place of a parlor stove. But a stove wastes much of its heat up the chimney, whereas the IDEAL-Arcola is water-jacketed, and conveys its heat by hot water circulation through pipe-connected AMERICAN Radiators stationed in the adjoining rooms. Every bit of the big volume of heat developed from each pound of fuel is therefore made useful in keeping ALL the rooms uniformly, healthfully warm. There is no coal-waste. The IDEAL-Arcola does not rust out or wear out—will outlast the building—is a genuine, permanent investment!

Shipped complete ready for immediate operation

The beauty of the IDEAL-Arcola method is that no cellar is needed. Everything is on one floor. The Arcola is placed in any room that has a chimney connection. No running to cellar. If there are two or more tenants in the building, each can have his own Arcola and make the temperature to suit his own needs—can make his own climate! If you do not wish at first to heat the entire building, buy a small size IDEAL-Arcola and later on buy extra sections for the IDEAL-Arcola and two or three more radiators to warm more rooms.

Cleanly heating—healthful heating—free from fire risk!

Unlike stoves, there are no coal-gas leaks into the living-rooms. The IDEAL-Arcola delivers the soft, radiant warmth of hot water—not the dry, burnt-out atmosphere of stove heating. There is no fire risk to building—no danger to children—fire lasts for hours! The Arcola burns hard or soft coal, coke, gas, or wood. Brings cost of heating down to the lowest notch—and gives IDEAL comfort.

Catalog showing open views of houses, individual flats, stores, offices, etc., with the IDEAL-Arcola Boiler in position will be mailed (free). Write today.

SAY WAR BETWEEN U. S. AND JAPAN IMPOSSIBLE

TOKIO, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Addresses in which it was declared that war between Japan and the United States is a contingency not to be considered and statements that the future of the two countries lies in the cultivating of economic relations and friendly intercourse, were heartily applauded yesterday at a luncheon given by the American Japan society.

Viscount Kaneko, a member of the privy council and formerly special representative of Japan to the United States, presided. The luncheon was given in honor of former United States Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio. Lieut.-Colonel Carl F. Baldwin, the American military attaché, who is leaving Japan shortly for Washington, and D. P. Blake, an American business leader in Japan for 30 years, who is going to London.

Without directly mentioning Shanghai, the speeches were based on the feeling in the United States arising from the Shantung question.

"Some Americans fear that a war may come with Japan," said Viscount Kaneko in opening the speechmaking. "But you, Colonel Baldwin, who have seen our military organization and know our people, will be able to tell your countrymen what we never have had the slightest idea of declaring war against the republic on the other side of the Pacific."

Viscount Kaneko added that Colonel Baldwin might even tell the Americans that instead of thinking of war the Japanese were fraternizing with Americans around the banquet board.

"There will never be a war between Japan and America," continued Viscount Kaneko, "and the entire Japanese people will concur with me in this opinion. Tell this to your president and the members of the cabinet, the senators and representatives, and your judges, bankers, capitalists, journalists and working people."

"Never can we entertain such an idea against America, which has done so much for our own country and led us into the path of taking a seat in the council of the five great powers."

Cheering greeted the words of Viscount Kaneko.

Mr. Burton said he joined with the Japanese statesman in declaring that a war between Japan and the United States was impossible. In the first place, he declared, it would be futile. If Japan attacked the Pacific coast she could not hope to penetrate the interior of America; if America attacked Japan she might be able to do serious injury, but she would leave a trail of hatred behind her which would hurt America more than Japan.

"As I have travelled here," continued Mr. Burton, "I have found the very air charged with hospitality and friendliness. Language and customs will prove but a temporary barrier between us. There is the traditional friendship that must endure always. No trouble-makers or jingles can break the ties that bind us. Mutual interests hold us, and we shall go forward with the conviction that war is not the way to settle difficulties between nations."

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

Thomas was (Unhappy)
In fact, although he had already put away several short ones and tall ones earlier in the day, he was feeling as dry as the proverbial fish when he dropped into a Dummer street thirteenth parlor Saturday evening, crooked an elbow on the bar and asked for some of their best 275 percent.

The barkeep, convinced that Thomas was carrying a sufficient load even for a Saturday night, politely but firmly refused, whereupon Thomas grew argumentative and finally found himself outside.

Which made Thomas—whose other name happens to be Lindsay—rather peeved. He got so cross, did Thomas, that he tossed a rock up against the window, and soon afterwards a policeman rode to police headquarters with him.

Thomas told Judge Bright in police court this morning that he was sorry about the window breaking affair; he also intimated that if given an opportunity he would pay for the damage.

So they continued his case a week, the court withholding sentence, to see if he can patch up his differences with the proprietor, which were estimated at a trifle over $19.

Present at Game

Ten men, arraigned for being present at a game on the Lord's day, pleaded guilty and paid fines of $3 each. The names given were: Louis Katzkaros, Charles Karos, George Kovokos, Thomas Karokones, William Antos, Thomas Quinn, Louis Bolekos, Nicholas Sakelokos, Geo. Lokas, Louis Kostakos, Geo. Makarones and Geo. Stromoulos. The men were arrested in an Adams street house late yesterday by Officers Moore, Conney, O'Neill and O'Sullivan.

Four more alleged gamblers, who also pleaded guilty to being present at a game, were fined a like amount. A room on John street was given as the scene of the alleged game. The names of the defendants were Charlie Wing, John Sing, Ah Sing and An Lee.

Charged With Larceny

Charged with stealing ribbons, towels, cloth, etc., from the home of her employer, Mrs. Mary Wiegman, last June, May Anthony, alias, pleaded guilty and had her case continued one week for disposition. Another charge against her, that of stealing a quantity of table linen from another woman by whom she was employed during the summer, was dismissed for lack of evidence.

ABOUT THE BOXERS

"Babe" Christo, of this city, who is back in the "ring" after doing his bit in the navy is looking for bouts, and would like nothing better than a match with Buddy Thomas. "Babe" has put on considerable weight, but according to those who have seen him in action he has lost none of his speed or aggressiveness. He is training regularly and is ready to meet any man of his weight in this vicinity.

Charlie Shepard, formerly of Lowell, upset the dope by beating Joe Carter of New Haven at Boston, the other night. Carter noticed the ring a 10 to Favorite, but after the second round the odds shifted. Shepard packed a heavy punch and in the clinches proved altogether too much for the New Haven boy. He carried the fight all the way and had a lead in eight of the ten rounds.

Johnny Veto stopped Buddy Thomas, of Lowell in three rounds at the Commercial club, Boston, last Friday night.

Fans would like to see Battling Sylvia and Billy Duffy at it again. Their mill here the other night was one of those kind you read about, and a return engagement would make a big hit with the boys who like action.

Kid Thomas and Young Leonard would also be a good pair to play a return engagement. Both are satisfactory performers, and fight from bell to bell.

Tommy Fall may soon be back competing in the amateur ranks. Fall, while one of the cleverest boys of his weight in this section, has been besieged with offers to desert the "mares," but he has turned them all down and now plans to appear in the next big amateur meeting.

It's about time for a second meeting between Young Avilla and Young Nearney. Regardless of whom Avilla may meet the fans will not be satisfied until they see him again exchanging punches with the Centralville lad.

The new management of the Crescent club is busy arranging an attractive card for the opening meeting on Thursday night.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. Wilfrid Paradis of Manchester, N. H., and Miss Ayelle Bergeron of this city took place this morning at a nuptial mass celebrated at St. Jean Baptiste church at 7 o'clock, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Antoine A. Amyot, O.M.I. The bride wore a taupe velour traveling suit and carried bridal roses. She was given away by her brother, Mr. Marcelin Bergeron, while the groom's witness was his father, Mr. Arsene Paradis of Manchester. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's sister, Miss Marie Bergeron, 466 Merrimack street, and present at the festivities were guests from Worcester, Berlin, N. ### LOWELL SCHOOL

SALARY SCHEDULE

In view of the widespread interest which has been aroused in the efforts of the teachers in the local public schools to secure an increase in salaries commensurate with the increase in the cost of living, the following schedule of salaries which has been in effect since Jan. 1, showing just how much per year the various classes of teachers are paid in Lowell will be of interest:

High School—Headmaster, $3300; sub-master, $2600; men teachers, $1080 to $1576.

(First year, $1050; second year, $1210; third year, $1310; fourth year, $1470; fifth year, $1590; sixth year, $1730; seventh year, $1870; department head, $1600 in excess of schedule salary.)

Women teachers, $750 to $1350. (First year, $750; second year, $850; third year, $1040; fourth year, $1080; fifth year, $1150; sixth year, $1250; seventh year, $1350.)

Elementary Schools—Masters, with yearly increase of $100, $1320 to $2420; teachers, $600 to $1650.

(First year, $600; second year, $650; third year, $700; fourth year, $750; fifth year, $800; sixth year, $1000; seventh year, $1050.)

Principals of primary schools, $50 in addition to regular grade salary.

Kindergartens—Principals, $510; assistants, $600 to $750.

(First year, $600; second year, $650; third year, $720; fourth year, $750.)

Temporary Teachers—Men, per day, $3; women, per day, $2; kindergartens, per day, $2.

Special Teachers—Drawing, $1050 to $1150; music, $1150 to $1610; sewing, $510 to $1140.

LOWELL TEXTILE SCHOOL OPENS

The Lowell Textile school, the most prominent of its kind in the country, commenced its 22nd year today with the largest entering class in its history. The freshmen number more than 125, while the upper classmen make the whole enrollment in excess of 200. The regular courses of cotton and woolen instruction, theoretical and practical, have not been added to this year and practically the same schedule will be followed in the allied studies.

The most significant fact in connection with the opening of the school is the size of the entering class. If its increased size over those of other recent years reflects what is to occur in subsequent years, then it may devolve upon the school trustees to appeal to the state legislature in an effort to provide dormitory accommodations. It has been exceedingly difficult for the school authorities to provide rooms in private homes for the new men, although the response to an eleventh-hour request for additional housing accommodations has just about met the requirements.

With the excellent facilities of the school, situated in one of the largest cotton manufacturing communities in the United States, it is only to be expected that its growth will be rapid and if added registration occurs every future year, the school will be obliged to expand.

Night of Terror

"Not that rope," the mob yelled. "Not that rope," someone shouted. It was pulled down by a loose end but was not long enough to reach. A man climbed the pole and with a knife cut the rope. It was brought down and placed around the neck of the mayor. "Throw it up over the pole and strangle the mayor up," yelled a dozen voices. The mayor was the centre of a crush so great that it almost overthrew an automobile standing near.

The rope was placed around his neck. Appalled at the possibility of murdering the city's chief executive, some of the mob protested. "We won't stand for hanging the mayor; that won't get us the negro; let him go; let him get out of here."

Rush Smith to Hospital

Then two officers cut the rope, carried the mayor to an automobile and rushed him to a hospital.

The mayor's law firm is at present defending two negroes charged with assaults on white women. The police assert that fact had much to do with some of the remarks made by members of the mob who had a hand in the attempt against his life.

Courthouse in Ruins

The fire that started in the courthouse left that structure a mass of ruins. The property was valued at a million and a half dollars. The damage to the records could not be estimated today, but it is believed many have been destroyed beyond reconstruction. Vital statistics accumulated since the county was organized are believed to be badly damaged.

For several hours the lives of more than 100 prisoners in the county jail were endangered by the flames in the lower floors of the building. It was finally necessary to send them all to the roof. Sheriff Clark stood off the angry mob until the flames caused the prisoners themselves to take action. They at first decided among themselves to throw the negro from the roof to the pavement below and leave him to the destruction of the mob. It was at this moment that the mob that had gained entrance to the burning

NOT A SCEPTIC LEFT IN THE VILLAGE OF MOOSUP

Mrs. Fanny A. Cheney's Astounding Facts Convince Them Rheumatism Is Curable

The wonderful recovery of Mrs. Fanny A. Cheney of Moosup, Conn.—not far from Providence—has been the talk of the whole village. To hear her story, several people from Boston journeyed to the village to get the facts direct. "Everyone in Moosup," began Mrs. Cheney, "has been talking about my case. I am fifty old years old and have suffered agonies from rheumatism of the joints for the past five years. Nearly every joint in my body was affected—my hands, wrists, knees and feet—all were dreadfully swollen from a chalky deposit. Physicians wanted to operate on me and try to remove the deposit. For one year I did not leave my bed without assistance. My legs were drawn up so that they could not be straightened, and to be moved was unbearable agony.

"When I called on Var-Ne-Sis, I was in bed and continually getting worse. For several months I saw little improvement except that my stomach was from an absolutely helpless cripple, who could only turn in bed with the aid of a rope rigged overhead. I am now walking about as you see me, without the aid of a crutch or cane. Every day I am growing better and stronger. I thank God for the knowledge that brought Var-Ne-Sis to me.

"I am always glad to hear from rheumatic sufferers and let them know how I regained my health through Var-Ne-Sis. My address is Post Office Box 134, Moosup, Conn."

building pushed past Sheriff Clark and his deputies and forced their way into the cell corridor. Here it was that the negro was turned over to them.

Negro Dragged Through Flames

"Throwing a rope around his neck, these men, numbering about 50, dragged him through blinding smoke to the street. When they appeared at the Harney street entrance to the courthouse they were greeted by a howling mob of thousands.

Brown was almost dead before his form was strung to the light pole. Two bullets were fired into his body as he was dragged through the crowd. He did not utter a word during the preparations and was given no opportunity to speak before being stretched full length before the gaze of thousands.

Body Middled With Bullets

The body was mutilated beyond recognition. Middled by a thousand bullets, it was first placed over a fire of tarred fagots. It was not permitted to remain there long, however, and was soon being dragged through the streets at the end of a rope pulled by 50 members of the mob. This spectacle did not end until late in the morning hours, when what remained of the torso was hung to a trolley pole at one of the most important downtown intersections. The arrival of the federal troops caused the mob to disperse.

Policemen Quit Job

The destruction of the courthouse came as a result of lack of police protection for the firemen when they attempted to run hose lines. Many of the firemen, however, entered the building and assisted in the work of quieting the prisoners, some of whom had become frantic.

Officers threw their clubs, guns and badges of authority to the wind and quit the job cold. This was especially true of many of the younger men who had come into the service under the present administration.

Sheriff Capitulates Lynching

Sheriff Clark today told the story of how Brown finally came into the possession of the mob.

"The deputy sheriffs had orders to hold Brown and they did all in their power to do so," he said. "When the flames and smoke crowded us off the fourth floor, Commissioner Ringer, Chief Eberstein, Mayor Smith and some police officers started for the freight elevator. The last men into the elevator were Mayor Smith, Commissioner Ringer and Chief Eberstein.

Women Prisoners Frenzied

"The women prisoners were screaming at the top of their voices. We took the women prisoners and released them rather than have them burn in their cells. They escaped from the building.

"Later we took the male prisoners to the roof of the building. They were panic stricken. The colored prisoners seized Brown and tried to push him over the cornice into the crowd below. But white prisoners and deputy sheriffs restrained them.

"I was on my way up a stairway to the roof when a mass of bodies tumbled down over my head and sprawled on the floor beneath me.

Turned Brown Over to Mob

"The colored prisoners had bolted by me with Brown in their clutches. They hurried him to the floor below and turned him over to a crowd of 30 or more who had climbed in the window from an extension ladder. That was the last I saw of Brown.

"We had 125 prisoners in the jail Sunday morning. We released 15 women. Three men prisoners escaped, two were confined for petty offenses, and one for burglary.

or has supported the police administration of Superintendent Ringer, which has been known as the "reform" administration. He has supported such changes in the police personnel as were recommended by Mr. Ringer and this action has been the source of considerable criticism by some newspapers.

Twenty-eight years ago yesterday a negro named Neal was taken from the courthouse and hanged on a pole, just across the street from where Brown met his death.

Mayor Smith is 50 years old and is a democrat in politics. He practiced law until chosen mayor a year ago last May to succeed James G. Baileman, who had held that office for 12 years.

NEW FARE SCALE

The people of Lowell, or at least a portion of them, have had an opportunity to test the value of the reduction in fares on the local street railway system, since the dollar tickets good for 16 rides were put on sale. As has been stated repeatedly these tickets are good from certain outlying points to the transfer station and through that centre by continuous ride or transfer to the Boston & Maine depot. Those who wish to pass through Merrimack square for any distance in another direction than towards the depot will have to pay an extra fare, either by having the red ticket punched again, or by paying the full 10-cent fare.

If a man, for example, is riding with his wife and has but one of the red tickets, he can have only one fare counted on that ticket and he will have to pay a full 10-cent fare in addition. While this new arrangement may be beneficial to business people by offering a slight reduction in the fare between their homes and the business centre of the city, it is of very little value to the masses of the people who work in mills and factories and most need a reduction.

The disappointment over the so-called fare reduction has only served to emphasize the fact that the company should have adopted the five-cent fare to and from Merrimack square, without a transfer. That, we are confident would increase the revenue considerably and would overcome to a great extent the unwillingness of the great majority of our population to pay a 10-cent fare, except when obliged by sheer necessity.

Much confusion has been caused by the changes in the rates of the company with reference to the collection of fares. On inward bound cars passengers are to pay as they enter and on outward as they leave. Passengers who pay a 10-cent fare on taking a car inward and remain on the same car after it passes through the square on the other leg of the route, have been asked to pay another fare on leaving. In such cases the passengers should have an identification slip, but in most cases, neither the passengers nor the conductors remember to follow the minute details of the new rules to this extent with the result that the passenger has to meet the demand for an additional fare. Perhaps after a while the public may become familiar with the new rules, although thus far there is little to encourage any such hope.

THE INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE

It is to be hoped that President Wilson will be able to take part in the conference between representatives of the people and those of labor and capital, called to meet at Washington on October 6. There are great hopes that this conference will result in closer relations between labor and capital and better protection for the public against the result of strikes and lockouts.

At the present time there is need of some new arrangement that will bring about industrial peace and more friendly relations between employers and employed. It seems that the time has arrived when labor is to insist upon some voice in the management of the concerns in which wage earners are engaged. They will at least have a share in deciding under what conditions they will work. It is also probable that the principal of collective bargaining will be conceded, provided that it be not used to take away the rights of employers to maintain the open shop if they so desire. This seems to be the point at issue in the great steel strike. The United States Steel Corporation has firmly stood against recognizing the unions, believing that if they once secured a foothold in the factories they would ultimately unionize all the employees, so that thereafter they would be able to call a strike and force all into idleness. It is against this that Judge Gary is fighting and while he has the right to fill the places of strikers, still it appears that the unions are fully justified in insisting upon the right of collective bargaining.

It is all very well for partisans to talk lightly on these matters, but they involve the question of the rights guaranteed under the constitution of the United States to the men who labor and the men or corporations for whom or for which they labor. There is much confusion and misconception as to the rights of employer and employed, especially when a conflict such as the steel strike is in progress. It would be well if some judicial tribunal would define these rights specifically, so that there might be less confusion and misunderstanding as to what the law guarantees to labor on the one side and capital on the other.

RIVALRY OF CRAFTS

There is a great demand for a reduction in the high cost of living and it comes most persistently from labor organizations that have distinguished themselves by demanding the highest prices for their labor. Among these are the railroad brotherhoods, who received $200,000,000 in increased wages in addition to the $80,000,000 awarded them by the Adamson law. Now they are asking for $250,000,000 more if the high cost of living be not promptly reduced to an extent that will meet their approval.

The example set by the brotherhoods was followed by other employees of the railroad system with the result that the increase in the payroll of railroad employees throughout the country since 1917 has been $1,115,000,000.

This offers a good illustration of how one allied trade will follow another with demands for higher wages. What is true of railroad employees in this respect is equally true of other crafts in various lines of industry. In the building trades, for example, the plumbers seem to lead the way in the rate of wages demanded. The other crafts engaged in the building trades endeavor to keep as close to the plumbers as possible. Carpenters who a few years ago were working for $1 or $1.50 a day, must now receive $1 an hour, or they will not work. The hod carriers see other trades pushing up the rate of wages and as their work is of the most laborious nature, they feel they are entitled to be paid an increase comparable to that received by the other crafts. The common laborers, who use pick and shovel, are determined not to allow the other crafts to get ahead of them, and they insist on getting $4.50 a day, which is the rate paid at the present time by several contractors in this city.

Thus we see there is a great deal of competition among the various trades and crafts, each desiring to keep its wage scale on a level with that of some other craft higher up. In this way contractors are continually harassed with demands for higher wages, shorter hours and better working conditions.

The question now comes, as to when this movement for better wages to meet the high cost of living, will come to a stop. Statisticians assure us that the prices of commodities now are on the downward plane and that there will be a gradual decline until normal conditions are reached. When that time will arrive we have no means of knowing, but certain it is that it may be several years before there is any radical change, either in the cost of living or in the rate of wages.

THE BRITISH STRIKE

England is tied up by a great railroad strike the main object of which is to force a standardization of wages for all railroad crafts, on the basis agreed upon for the locomotive men. The strikers are dealing directly with the government and failure of the British premier to concede the demands of the railroad men was the final act that brought on the crisis despite the fact that the present wage agreement is to continue until Dec. 31.

The whole country suffers because every line of business is affected and if the strike continues for a week, the people in some of the leading cities will be faced with starvation.

This railroad strike is not designated "revolution" but it is so near to what we have known as such, that there is very little difference except in the fact that thus far there has been no bloodshed.

If, however, the strike should continue until the people suffer from lack of food or the where-withal to purchase it, the strikers will naturally resort to violence which will bring the military forces of the nation into action.

In this strike there is a lesson for every other great nation. England there is no public tribunal. Of course it is barely possible that no labor court, no arbitration board, whose duty it is to deal with such cases. Neither is there any such body in this country and hence we are liable to have a similar strike in the very near future unless steps be taken to head it off.

As we have repeatedly declared, we reassert that strikes on all public service utilities should be prohibited and there should be established a judicial court or board by which all such questions may be equitably settled.

All that is necessary is the legal machinery, but it seems that congress lacks the courage to deal with this question in a manner that will safeguard the public against nationwide strikes which in a short time would not only paralyze all industry but bring famine and death to many thousands of people who have no connection with the dispute.

IF WE WERE HOGS

Congress has done absolutely nothing with the Harding-Pess flu investigation measure, despite the pleas of layman and physician alike. Every health official in the United States has urged the necessity for such an investigation. The American Medical association, including the nation's best doctors, has begged congress to appropriate but a few millions to aid doctors, nurses, hospitals, and the people in fighting the dreaded recurring influenza epidemic.

And congress has done nothing to aid. The bill still lies in a committee pigeon hole.

"If it were hogs instead of humans that were affected congress would have appropriated millions of dollars and an army of the world's leading experts would long ere this, be assembled and working to save the hogs."

That is the opinion of Dr. C. St. Clair Drake, director of the Illinois department of public health. We think the doctor is right. If the flu had killed 500,000 hogs last year (it did kill that many humans) congress would have appropriated five million dollars in five minutes to find the best preventive and curative remedies.

However, it was only humans that were the victims! And congress doesn't seem to worry much over a little thing like human life.—N. E. A.

PRESIDENT WILSON

It is not at all surprising that President Wilson has been obliged to abandon his speaking tour on the League of Nations. After undergoing the severe strain of arduous labors at the peace conference, it seems that he must have overestimated his own power of endurance to undertake such a tour of public addresses, covering a distance of 10,000 miles.

President Wilson is not as young as he used to be and henceforth cannot expect to stand the strain of arduous labor without greater danger of serious results than in past years. We may differ with the president on his view of the League of Nations and many other questions, but we are bound to respect him on account of his position and his evident purpose to lead the people towards higher ideals.

It is not as yet known what effect his tour of the west will have on public sentiment, although if we are to judge from the published reports, it would appear that his trip has been successful in spite of the opposition offered by Hiram Johnson and a few other senators who are desperately opposed to the League of Nations in any form.

MONAHAN'S COMPLAINT

Candidate Monahan who sought the democratic nomination for governor is out with a complaint that because of the fact that some 125 letters mailed by him to police officers in Springfield were not delivered, he has been wilfully done out of several thousand votes. The Springfield voters, who failed to receive Mr. Monahan's communications, must have been very influential men, if they could increase his vote by some thousands in that city, considering the fact that he received only 9700 in the entire state, while Mr. Long received 53,000. It is understood that Mr. Monahan is to protest to Postmaster General Burleson that he was defeated in the primaries by some failure on the part of the Springfield postoffice to deliver his communications sent to that city. It is entirely in accord with the logic of Mr. Monahan's arguments to claim that because of this alleged laxity on the part of the Springfield postoffice, he has been robbed of the nomination. Of course it is barely possible that the police authorities of Springfield did not care to allow an incendiary appeal to reach their subscribers in this country and hence

GUARD AGAINST INFLUENZA

Prepare Your System. Increase Your Bodily Resistance

Leading physicians are recommending various things for the people to guard themselves against the Spanish influenza which is expected to break out again this fall and winter. They tell you to keep out of crowded places, avoid being near people who have colds, get out into the sunshine and fresh air, and take plenty of exercise. Get to bed early at night and take a little more sleep and rest than you usually do, eat good, nourishing, wholesome food and tone up your system. Plenty of iron in the blood makes vitality, strength and resisting power against disease. IRON-LAX-TONIC tablets should be taken without delay as a tonic to tone up the system and put iron into the blood.

There is not supposed to be any shortage of this remedy at the present time but if you should find a DRUG STORE where you cannot buy IRON-LAX-TONIC tablets, persist until you find a store that does sell them.

It would be well to keep up the treatment for some weeks. Avoid any substitute offered when you ask for IRON-LAX-TONIC. It is always ready to certain you can reasonably look for the expected results only when you insist on the genuine article. IRON-LAX-TONIC is sold at all first class Drug Stores.—Adv.

SEEN AND HEARD

They are laying street car rails in Fletcher street. Wonder what for?

We don't hear many of the boys complaining about "big heads" these days.

Let's have a bathing party at the new municipal bath-house Christmas or New Year's day. What say?

The Clerical Friend

A senator said at a banquet: "A political campaign, like every other campaign, must be thoroughly organized. Lack of organization, inattention to detail, lead straight to disaster."

"I know a lady who could never have conducted a campaign successfully. She gave a dinner party recently, and to one of her guests, a stranger, she said: "Mr.—er—P—paired you off with that fat dame in the corner. Will you take her in to dinner? My husband, the wicked wretch, says she's a good deal of a tramp, but she's got lots of money and one of his clever friends has just married her for it, so we must be as nice to her as we can, mustn't we?"

"I'm sorry, ma'am," said the stranger, "with a stiff little bow, but I happen to be the clever friend in question."—Washington Star.

"Kidding" the Clergy

Strange how the laity likes to tell jokes on the clergy. And they range all the way from yellow-legged chicken to women. And if it isn't the clergy the deacon is likely to be made the party to some unchurched action. Usually, when it's the deacon liquor is involved. Witness this story which was sprung for the delight of the Prince of Wales up in Canada:

A stranger had hit the dominion after most of it had gone dry, and he sought a native for the location of a speakeasy.

"Nothing doing," said the native, "unless you've been bitten by a snake." "Small chance for me," said the stranger, "I never had a snakebite."

"Oh, but Deacon Lysander, up on the hill has a nice tame snake and his bite is perfectly harmless," cheered the native.

Fortwith the stranger found his way to Deacon Lysander's and asked of the snake and the price of a snakebite.

"Yes, I have a snake and he will bite you for a dollar," quoted the deacon. "But he is booked up six weeks ahead."

This one on a man of the cloth who is noted as a lecturer with a list of sensational subjects originated without malice:

He appeared in a small town chautauqua and was duly introduced by the chairman as follows:

"The Rev. Mr. Blank will now address us on 'The Devil,' and I am sure that the speaker is full of his subject."

The real live, red-blooded sky pilot, appropriates a joke as much as anyone, as many a soldier of the great war learned from association with the priests and ministers who went to the front.

One of this type delights to tell this one on himself:

He was crossing an icy field with the officer of the day in one of the winter campaigns when the officer slipped and fell.

"The wicked stand upon slippery places," quoted the chaplain.

"I see they do, but I can't," flashed back the officer.

And here's another one on the clergy's right hand—for surely the man who passes the collection box is first aid to the pastor:

An English clergyman was astonished one day, while officiating for a friend in a remote moonlight church, to see the old verger abstract a half-crown from the collection plate before presenting it to the altar rails.

After the service he told the old man that his crime had been discovered. The verger looked puzzled. Then a sudden light dawned on him:

"Why, sir, you don't mean that old half-crown of mine? Why, I've led off with this last 15 year."

Such is life.

I do not believe he would beat up a cripple.

I hardly conceive him too fond of his tipple.

I'm inclined to suspect he is true to his wife.

And he lives, on the whole, a commendable life.

But oh, my eyes glisten with inner suspicion.

And whenever I visit his office, I'm sore.

His tact I deride and his taste I deplore.

For he's one of those guys with a guard at his door.

I would take his advice upon men and events.

I'd allow him to add his own bill of expense.

I would hand him my roll without counting it twice.

I would buy his old car without haggling the price.

But yet, while I prize him, I also despise him.

His sanctum has all the delight of a tomb.

I meet him in mirth and I leave him in gloom.

For he's one of those guys with one chair in the room.

If he gets up to heaven, I hope it's his late.

That there's neither a latch nor a knob on the gate.

I hope that some cherub will look at him hard.

And demand "what's his business" and call for "his card."

I hope he's kept waiting Outside of the gates.

And when he's let into the private retreat.

I pray that St. Peter tolls back in his hand.

And stands the guy up till he blisters his feet!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

With the departure of the United States employment bureau from its quarters at 119 Merrimack street there fades out one of the most interesting features of Lowell's part in the great world war. The lower floor of the Bugg building, part of which the employment bureau occupied for more than a year, was really the centre of all Lowell's war activities and was well named war work headquarters. It was first opened by Otto Hockmeyer in the summer of 1917 and originally used as a canning kitchen for the Lowell women who tried to carry out the principles of Mr. Hoover by forming the women's food conservation committee. This organization did excellent work and then the headquarters came to be used as a recruiting station for the British and Canadian forces. Officers who had served overseas in the early days of the war were assigned there for duty. A little later French officers came along to help out in the work. Then people began coming to 119 Merrimack street for all sorts of information concerning the war until Mr. Hockmeyer decided to make the office a permanent war work headquarters. L. E. Field was chosen secretary to have general charge of the work and he was rapidly assisted through the war period by Miss Dorothy S. Leeds. When the war camp community service was doing its first work here in Lowell its office was opened at the war work headquarters. The various Liberty loans, Red Triangle, Knights of Columbus, Red Cross and other war relief campaigns that were staged in this city found the war work headquarters a handy central station. An information bureau concerning Lowell men in the war, data concerning allotments, insurance, etc., were other features of the office. Finally the employment service opened its office in Lowell and Mr. Hockmeyer gladly gave up part of his floor space to the government. With the signing of the armistice the work of the headquarters gradually lessened until finally it ceased altogether and the records and files were removed. The employment service was the last to move and now the war work headquarters has reverted to its former status—an empty store. But within its walls are enshrined many hallowed memories, fitting monuments of Lowell's part in the great struggle.

Some say they never come back, but J. C. Manseau, the Merrimack street merchant avers the honest ones do come back and to back his statement he relates the following incident, which occurred in his place of business last Saturday forenoon. "One of my customers entered the store," he said, "and asked me why I did not fill orders as given. Not knowing just what he was driving at, I replied that it is our policy to do our very best in waiting on customers and if any wrong had been done I was ready to right it. 'Well,' my customer said, 'a few days ago I came here and ordered from you 15 handkerchiefs at 35 cents apiece and I paid you $4.50 for the goods. You delivered the merchandise all right, but when I counted my kerchiefs this morning I found 12 instead of 15 and that is why I came here this morning. Having paid you for 15 handkerchiefs and having received 12 of them I still owe you a quarter, and here it is.'"

Mr. Manseau stated that the customer who "came back" has been employed at the state house in Boston for a great many years and if his honesty has anything to do with the keep-

Some folks seem to have little if any realization of the sanctity of an oath. One would suppose that when a man raises his hand and swears to Almighty God that he will tell "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth," he would feel it his sacred duty to do so; and yet how often one goes over to the morning sessions in the police court and finds men and women deliberately perjuring themselves by uttering downright falsehoods on the witness stand. One case in particular, which was tried recently, impressed me. A man was being tried for stealing a watch and for fully half an hour protested by all that was holy that he was not responsible for the theft of the missing timepiece; even his own lawyer believed in his innocence. And then when the case was practically closed and he found himself staring at a stiff sentence in the face he admitted that he had hidden the watch and was ready to procure it. If the court would be lenient with him, Truly, an oath means very little to some people.

The honor to the distinguished Belgian prelate will be paid at Faneuil hall. James J. Phelan and other citizens appointed by Mayor Peters comprise a committee of arrangements for the reception to the noted churchman.

The cardinal will be in Boston three days. He will come on Saturday, and during his stay here will be the guest of Cardinal O'Connell at his residence, Hawken rd, Brookline. On Sunday, Cardinal Mercier will officiate at the solemn high mass at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross. Plans have not been announced yet by Cardinal O'Connell, but the event promises to make one of the great days in the history of the cathedral. It will mark the first visit to Boston and to the diocese and to the cathedral of a foreign cardinal.

There will be a reception tendered by the Catholic women of greater metropolitan Boston and eastern Massachusetts on Sunday afternoon at the Academy of Notre Dame, the Fenway. This will be under the auspices of the League of Catholic Women.

In addition Cardinal Mercier will pay a visit to Boston college on Monday morning, and will be tendered a reception by the priests of the diocese at St. John's Ecclesiastical seminary in the afternoon. He will be a guest at a luncheon with the clergy at 2 p. m. Cardinal Mercier will also pay a visit to Harvard college on Monday afternoon.

WORLD SERIES WILL HELP TREASURY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The United States treasury is expecting to benefit at least $18,000 on the world's series baseball games. Each purchaser of a ticket will have to pay the customary admission fee of one cent for each 10 cents or fraction thereof, which on the basis of last year's attendance will mean enough money to pay the salary of the president for nearly three months. Officers of the bureau of internal revenue will go to Cincinnati and Chicago to check up returns.

Brokers, it is believed, will find the business of "scalping" tickets this year at exorbitant prices much less profitable than in the past, inasmuch as there is a tax of 50 per cent on the excess charge.

Brokers will be required to register with the collectors of internal revenue of the Cincinnati and Chicago districts before doing business and any violations of the regulations will be dealt with vigorously, the law imposing a punishment of one year's imprisonment or $10,000 fine.

K. OF C. TAKES SERIES

Lamsons Beaten in Brilliant Game Saturday by Score of 8 to 6

Before a high strung crowd numbering more than 2000 the Knights of Columbus baseball team defeated the Lamson company in the deciding game of their series at Spaulding Park Saturday afternoon by the score of 8 to 6. It was a bitter battle, fought by both clubs with every bit of strength and craftiness at their command. Baseball of the brand of commonplace and the superlative was crammed into the nine innings and not until the last man had gone out did the tension relax for a second.

EDWARD CAWLEY,
Knights of Columbus Captain.

Hammering the shoots of Pete Condon to all corners of the park, the Knights built up a four-run lead in the opening frame that sent their supporters into the seventh heaven of ecstasy, but the reign of joy was short-lived. Against the pitching of Owen Devlin in the third inning the Lamson team showed their real batting strength and before the session had been brought to a tumultuous close, the shrewd harrier had been driven from the peak before a fusillade of four slinging hits good for five runs. The sixth tally of the inning was gained off the shoos of Scully, who relieved him, but from that point until the finish of the game, Scully curve-balled the store service men to a fare-thee-well, allowing them only two hits and no runs.

Another K of C. run in the third brought them to within one run of their opponents and the slender lead was wiped clean off the books in the sixth, when three runs came over on three solid hits, two stolen bases and an error.

Lamson threatened to break into the run column in the first inning, but Scully's triple pulled Duffy off the bag. Souza sacrificed, Desmond to McPherson. Sullivan worked the count up to 2 and 3 and then watched the third strike shoot by. Cawley pulled a hit into right field, O'Day scoring. Ed stole second and came home on Foye's hit over Duffy's head. Walter went down to second on the throw-in. Reynolds singled sharply between McVey and Breen. Foye scoring and Ray taking second on Buckley's attempt to cut down Foye at the plate. Breen booted Murphy's grounder. Reynolds pulled up at third. On the double pull-up at third, the double steal, Ray scored and Murphy went down to the key-stone sack. It was the fourth run of the inning. Haggerty continued the bombardment against Condon by singling through McVey, but Buckley's line throw stopped Murphy at the plate.

Although McVey singled for Lamsons with one down in the second and went to second on a wild pitch, he got no farther as O'Day took McPherson's life and Desmond came in the third, however, Devlin faced a terrible hostile fire with two men gone and was forced to leave the box in favor of Scully.

Condon fanned and Breen walked. When Buckley died out to Haggerty it looked safe, but Sullivan dropped White's drive. Duffy's single scored Breen. White stopping at third, Bridgeford doubled over Haggerty's head, scoring White and Duffy and then McVey drove in the tying run with a clean drive over Haggerty's head for three runs. The game was held up while Sullivan had his throw-up hand bound up after having it split when he dropped White's fly. When play resumed, McPherson sounded the death knell with a single. Devlin's death knell with a single which scored McVey and when Owen stepped down in favor of Scully, Desmond greeted the new-comer with a hit to left and McPherson came over with the sixth run of the frame. Condon, up for the second time, walked. On an attempted double steal Desmond was out at the plate, Foye to Scully, to O'Day to Foye.

Sullivan's triple to deep left centre in the last half of the inning and Cawley's top single back of second base brought the K. of C. count up to six.

For the following six innings Scully gave a brilliant exhibition of pitching, held the opposition to two hits, fanned four and issued only one base. His curve ball worked beautifully. His support was splendid in the pinches and in the seventh, wonderful. After the Knights had batted across three runs in the sixth on Murphy's single, Scully's double and Souza's timely hit, the Lamson company went into the seventh full of determination to get back those runs.

Herb White, first up, took one of Scully's shots on his leg. The hit and run sign was flashed and Joe Duffy came through with a driving single to right. Herb rounded second at full speed and set sail for third. Souza picked the ball clean from the grass, but apparently pulled a bone by lining it in to Murphy on first. But it was the beginning of as brilliant a bit of defensive play seen in the city for many moons. Murphy arched the ball and shot it across the diamond to Cawley. Ed touched White as he slid in and then with the same motion snapped the ball to Reynolds who tagged Duffy at second. The play was lightning fast and brought the fans howling to their feet.

NOTES OF THE GAME

The game meant the series, three games to two.

A discussion over which team was entitled to take the field first threatened to hold up the game for some time, but finally was ironed out.

Bob Keeler worked well and had the game under positive control every minute.

Pete Condon showed evidences of prevariousness on several occasions, but soon cooled off.

Scully is a corner. His curve ball is a beauty and he has it under control at all times.

Walter Lyons was among those present and in behalf of the South Ends, challenged the winning team to one game or the best two out of three for a purse of $100 up.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson dropped in for three innings, but had to leave when things began to get interesting.

Some fans in the stand were prone to criticize Herb White and Joe Duffy for their running into a double play on the hit and run in the seventh. They played the game for all it was worth and in the only logical manner with their team two runs behind. The ball was handled too calmly, that's all.

Desmond caught fine ball throughout the series and worked hard to pull Condon through a winner.

The box score carries two errors for Henry Sullivan, but they were excusable with his split hand.

The main bout this evening, gentlemen, ends Mr. Finnegan in this corner and Mr. Condon in that one. Break-out—by Condon 7, by Devlin 3, by Scully 4. Passed ball—Desmond. Wild pitches—Devlin 2. Time—3 hours. Umpire—Keeler. Attendance—2000.

ANOTHER SERIES

Bellevues and K. of C. to Play for Big Purse

Right on the heels of the K. of C. Lamson company series comes a challenge from the Bellevues and its acceptance from Nixy Coughlin, manager of the Knights. A series of three games will be played for a purse of $500 a side, the money to be posted with the sporting editor of The Sun at 5 o'clock tomorrow night. With the posting of the money, lineups and dates will be announced.

The Bellevues have been angling for a date with the K. of C. for some time and the fans will welcome the time that at last a series between these two clubs seems certain. Many people believe the Bellevues have the strongest club in the city and that a great series will develop.

MAY BE ALL RIGHT, BUT LOOKS SILLY

One hundred and twenty-five members of the freshmen class at the Textile school paid due homage to a handful of sophomores this morning shortly after the institution opened its doors for the fall semester. Herded together like a flock of sheep, with jackets turned inside out and thus worn, and in their stocking feet and with trousers legs pulled up to show the "single" and "double grips," the luckless freshmen were marched from the school to Merrimack square.

In the middle of the column walked one man behind a wheel barrow which contained the shoes of the lower classmen and as the square was reached the mob halted while the despised sophs scattered the shoes from curb to curb. This scattering of the footwear would not have amounted to much had not the sophs seen to it that the individual pairs had been broken before being tied together, but as it was the result was evident.

Unlike the biblical hosts the freshmen did not pass over dry shod, for Merrimack street had been recently soaked by the car sprinkler and water oozed between toes as they marched along. Dark stains of water and mud spread higher and higher over ankles caused in delicate slippers of purple, gray and blue, but the freshmen marched with heads erect and with happy smiles spread over their faces. Gladly did they endure the shouts of derision which were hurled from the sidewalk society officers were forced to kill and they took the gibes of the sophs with the spirit of martyrs, for not a single one of the 250 and more socks bore the semblance of a hole. Water soaked and muddy, still the class of 1922 were able to show their socks to the world, whole. Next year they will be sophomores and then—

ARREST IN BLACKHAND CASE AT BROCKTON

BROCKTON, Sept. 29.—"Leave the sum of $2500 under the whitewashed stone on Thatcher street shown by the diagram at once or the life of you and your wife won't be worth a damn." This startling letter coinciding with the proverbial blackhand sign was received several days ago by George E. Keith, head of the Walkover Shoe company interests, accompanied by a chart of the city designating the stone under which the blackmailer directed his intended victim to place the money. Acting on several clues which have been diligently followed for the past few days Miner W. Thompson, 66 years old, a stone mason, residing on Thatcher street, close by the spot mentioned as the repository of the money, was arrested shortly after midnight by the Brockton officers and locked up at headquarters on the temporary charge of attempted blackmail. He will be arraigned in the Brockton police court today.

The police allege that they have the would-be blackmailer, several clues leading up to his arrest being indisputable. According to one of the inspectors detailed on the case a dummy package was placed beneath the stone as directed, while the officers lay in waiting. Thompson called personally to learn the result of his alleged threat, but was not taken into custody at the time, the police shadowing him closely while other clues were run down.

With the dragnet drawn tightly around the elderly man, he was taken from his home early yesterday morning.

Mr. Keith, one of Brockton's most prominent citizens, turned the letter over to the police upon receiving it in the morning mail. It was written in an ordinary scrawl, no attempt having been made evidently to conceal the identity of the writer. The outline of a large hand was traced on the sheet. Mr. Keith is noted for his philanthropy, having in times past contributed liberally to charitable and war work emergencies, and is the shoe city's wealthiest citizen. Thompson has a wife and three children and has lived in Brockton a number of years.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Below is what the press agencies of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come:

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

James C. Morton, added and abetted by three other Mortons, burst into view from the B. F. Keith theatre, today, giving the irrepressibly funny comedy travesty. Morton is very well known wherever vaudeville is given, and he is known as a wholly original performer whose every minute on the stage is given over to laugh-making. Associated with him are Edna, Mamie and Alfred Morton, and advance notices dealing with the performance of the four dwell on the fact that they offer a three-ring circus of fun from the time they bound into view until they take their curtain bows. Morton is justly remembered as one of the most famous of our native funny men. Pietro is acclaimed the one world famous virtuoso of the piano-accompaniment. He has been—and are—but no one of them has succeeded in extracting so much classic melody out of the instrument as has Pietro. Wherever talking machine records are known there is Pietro applauded.

ed. His repertoire is an uncommonly long one, embracing practically all of the famous overtures and fantasias. Really, these tell of the worth of the man as a musician, for the playing of the popular stuff today counts no tax on one's abilities. Pietro, however, wants to suit all tastes, and so he has fashioned a repertoire which will give to everybody something which he most likes.

Once upon a time, and it wasn't so many years ago, there was a very noted quartet of funmakers called the Four Sultys. They were all of one family, and New York saw them engaged from one season's end to another's beginning. An accident to one of the members of the family made it necessary that the family should split up, and that is why Wilbur Sully and Genevieve Houghton are to be found on this week's bill in a dainty comedy called "Between Dances." It was specially prepared for them by Aaron Hoffman. Wilbur Sully is a tried and true comedy entertainer and Miss Houghton is present in the act with all of the things that make a pretty woman popular.

"Contrary," a brand new comedy, will be presented by Lida MacMillan and Bert Snow. It was written for them by Jack Esplan. Since Miss MacMillan has returned from "over there" she admits that she has a deeper appreciation of humanity than ever before. Playing continuously to thousands of American soldiers gave her something in method which she never had before. And she says it is just as apparent in comedy as in a straight dramatic acting.

"THE MIRACLE MAN" RANKS WITH GREAT FILM MASTERPIECES

Published originally as a novel in Munsey's magazine, written by Frank L. Packard and later dramatized by George M. Cohan and presented with phenomenal success on Broadway, "The Miracle Man" opens a week run at the Merrimack Square theatre this afternoon. As a motion picture this absorbing story has been hailed by the critics as one of the best productions ever seen on the screen. With scenes laid in the haunts of criminals in New York's Chinatown, in a little village on the side of a giant mountain and on the shore of a roaring ocean, the opportunity for wonderful photographic effects has been realized to the limit.

But the chief interest is in the striking story, which centers about the venerable figure of an old patriarch, who is credited with the power to heal the sick and make crippled limbs whole again. To him come Tom Burke and his band of crooks from New York's Chinatown with the idea of cashing in on his powers. But it doesn't work out as they calculated, for hidden away in each of them is a heaven of good, which slowly comes to the surface under the influence of their wholesome environment. In a most surprising way the criminals are reclaimed from the paths of crime.

A cast of unusual ability makes the important roles in the picture, headed by Thomas Meighan, a well known leading man, and supporting Ethel Fair, Betty Campbell, Joseph J. Dowling, Lou Chaney, W. Lawson Butts, A. M. Dumont, Lucille Huston, and F. A. Turner.

OPERA HOUSE: "Fair and Warmer" the play with 1930 laughs, by Avery Hopwood, which opened a week's engagement at the Opera House this afternoon by the popular Lowell Players, is unquestionably the most entertaining and completely workable and effective of its kind that local audiences have had an opportunity to witness in seasons. Theatre folk generally will recall its phenomenal run in New York and Boston during its original production. In it Marie Keane, by the theatre screen artist, was featured when given in the Metropolitan and at the Wilbur theatre, Boston, and she found it a vehicle that served well its purpose, not alone in giving satisfaction to her patrons, but also in making her standing in the profession one that was the envy of all in her class.

Messrs. Buckley & Schenck apparently have the happy faculty of selecting not alone the very best stock attractions, but also the kind that serve the wants of local patrons to a degree. Incidentally they seem to know just what is best suited for the qualifications and accomplishments of the members of their company. Miss Margaret Fields and John Meahan, leading woman and man of the Playhouse, have already given evidence of marked versatility and, judging from their endeavors of the past, this pair should certainly "go big" in this week's production. Miss Helen Froburn, Miss Priscilla Knowles, Hal Crane, Jack Bennett and the rest will also show to particular advantage.

The play without question an admirable selection for the week, and will undoubtedly contribute very materially to the marked success already scored by the company. In staging the piece Director Burke will reflect once again his exceptional ability in his line and incidentally will see to it that the fine performance this afternoon will be as near letter perfect as any of the weekend. A large advance sale indicates a capacity audience at most of the performances. It might be well to make your reservations early and avoid possible disappointment. Tickets 25c, better still have your name placed on the subscription list.

FIND SKELETON OF MAN ON BEACH

GLOUCESTER, Sept. 29.—Henry and Peter White, residing on Concord st., made a gruesome discovery at Wingasheek Beach Saturday afternoon. While fishing at a target one placed a bottle on what he at first supposed to be a stone. Close examination, however, proved it to be a skull.

The discovery was reported to the police yesterday. Inspector Curtis went to the scene and uncovered the skeleton of a man about 5 feet 9 inches tall.

A pair of shoes, evidently those of a working man, was found. These shoes were pegged and of a make worn about 25 years ago.

A further examination of the scene will be made today.

The spot where the body was found is about 100 feet from the center of the beach in a sandy locality.

Influenced by a woman who came to her house selling stock in the League of Nations—stock with reservations at $5 a share, and without at $1.50—a Birmingham woman reported to the police that she had invested all her available money.

WELCOMED HOME
Corp. Frank H. Trottechaud, 417th Motor Supply Train, who returned last week from Germany, after serving nine months with the army of occupation.

Europe with the A.E.F. was given a welcome home reception last evening at the home of his sister, Mrs. Frank Lumbert, 121 Orleans street. The young man, who is enjoying the best of health, was released from the service at Camp Devens last Wednesday.

Present at the reception last evening were about 75 friends of the young soldier, who took occasion to congratulate him on his good fortune for not having been wounded nor gassed while at the front and also to extend to him their best wishes. In the course of the evening a large musical program was given under the direction of Mr. Frank Lambert and a buffet luncheon was served.

LOWELL GAS WORKS MEN HOLD OUTING

Ideal weather, a large attendance and an excellent program marked the first annual outing of the employees of the Lowell gas works, which took place yesterday at Nabnasset pond, Chelmsford. The affair was so successful that before leaving the outing grounds the excursionists voted to make it an annual event, and the committee was highly complimented for the efficient manner in which the entire program was conducted.
The trip to the pond was made in automobile trucks and individual machines, the first car to leave the gas works in School street going at 7 o'clock and the last at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Upon reaching the grounds the excursionists were served a buffet luncheon, the catering being done by "Bill" and Napoleon Johnson, two friends of the workers, who supplied the guests with the best available in the line of food. Later a baseball game between married and unmarried men was played and this proved quite an attraction. The score at the end of the game stood 10 to 5 in favor of the bachelors, who were captained by T. L. Pearson. The beneficiaries were headed by Charles Curry.

The afternoon was devoted to races and sporting events and each number proved quite an attraction. A feature of the racing events was a 100-yard dash, which had as contestants, Jas. Haley and John Curley, who have both passed their 60th anniversary. It seems that both men had been training for the event for some time and such was the interest in the race that it is understood several side bets had been made. The palm was awarded to Mr. Curley, who received as a prize a $5 gold piece. The other events and the winners as well as the prizes were as follows:
100-yard dash, 1st, H. Mulino, a $5 umbrella, and second, Jack Reagan, a stickpin.
220-yard dash, 1st, H. Mulino, a $6 hat, and second, Jack Reagan, a cigar case.
Sack race, Fred Murphy, safety razor.
Shoo race, 1st, H. Mulino, world's war ring, and second, Martin Monahan, cuff links.

Running broad jump, 1st, H. Mulino $5's worth of merchandise at the A. G. Pollard Co., and second, Michael Molloy, cigar case.

Pie eating contest, 1st, Fred Murphy, pipe, and second, James Haley, pocket knife.
Fat men's race, 1st, George Boland, briar pipe, and second, Joseph Mortar-ly, pocket comb.

Clog dance in which four competed. Thomas Connors, two neckties.
Pillow fight, 1st, Jack Reagan, half ton of coke, and second, Louis Lebour-ton, prize, not announced.

Quilts Cullinan & Curry, $4 in cash.

In addition to this long list of races there were also boxing exhibitions by Martin Flaherty and his son and by Nerner & Pearson.
Present at the festivities were Mayor Thompson, Commissioners Marchand, Morse and Murphy, as well as other notable guests.
The success of the event was due to the following committee: T. L. Pearson, chairman; Leo Donovan, secretary-treasurer; Charles Curry, Dominic Monahan, John (Jack) Reagan, John Mulino, Patrick Cullinan, James McCarthy, Patrick Ward, Michael Hetherman and Michael Kinane.
